

Camino's Brave Code Stand

By Will E. Thomas

El Camino High School in South San Francisco stands alone, perhaps bravely, with a concrete dress code that has not yet begun to crumble.

Stern regulations that governed student-faculty attire apparently have long vanished elsewhere. And El Camino often is furiously denounced by those who cite a belief that no one has a right to demand their standards of anyone else.

The opposition describes the regulation as "repressive," and a civil action is in the federal courts today over the length of an El Camino High student's hair.

But, Principal Bob Keropian is not bashful about his unguarded optimism, or of his responsibility as he sees it to the parental mandate of his attendance area.

Keropian, who says his parents want him to maintain the firm discipline, also believes his school's dress code will stand as strong tomorrow as it does today.

He explains that the numerous court opinions around the nation are tending to support well-defined codes, and he considers the Camino code to be quite specific.

In fact, Keropian points out that the state's Education Code specifies students will be neat and well groomed — or be sent home until they are.

Dress restrictions are a matter of health, safety and welfare, school authorities claim.

Take long hair. They say it constitutes a safety hazard around certain equipment, and that it is distracting and disruptive in other classes.

Keropian has had this observation in regard to hair in excess of the code:

"... Those students who seem to be compelled to wear their hair in excessive lengths use such demonstrative and attention-getting tactics as a dubious claim to fame among their peers and also tend to use it as a crutch and a substitute for measurable academic and other constructive pursuits designed to prepare students to cope with the challenges of business and society upon their graduation."

"Dress codes," he says, "must be written so specific that the same interpretation is derived by all those who read it."

Merely stipulating "neat and clean" won't do, in Keropian's mind: "Anything else is no code at all."

Only vague dress codes have been set aside by the courts in recent opinions, Keropian explains.

School leaders elsewhere don't seem to agree — or, it's for other reasons they have allowed their codes to vanish.

"Do we have the right to be different?" asks Keropian. Each community should determine how it wants to run its own schools.

Keropian, El Camino's principal since the trim, pleasantly landscaped school was built ten years ago ... at a cost of $5 million, at an open house at the school last October surprised. (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

The Optimistic Merchants Firms in San Bruno Ponder Tanforan

By Bob Peterson

Tanforan is the talk of the town.

Whispers along San Bruno's San Mateo Avenue admit to that.

But many of the merchants on that city's downtown shopping street remain optimistic that the new shopping center can be an asset, rather than a liability.

Where many small storekeepers blame the exodus of shoppers to outlying shopping centers, the feeling on San Mateo Avenue is that Tanforan's shoppers will float on into the downtown area.

"Shoppers are funny people," said one 25-year business veteran of San Mateo Avenue. "If they want to buy something at Hillsdale, they'll go there in a snowstorm. They may go to Tanforan. But they'll also come downtown."

Using this philosophy, numerous downtown merchants are busily investigating the possibility of low-cost storefront improvements as a drawing card.

Downtown merchants also are writing letters informing various retail-type businesses that prime locations are available on San Mateo Avenue.

But improvements are at least a year away.

"It's better to let Tanforan get settled," said Jack Fisher, heading the committee for downtown improvements. He pointed out that San Mateo Avenue street work may start within six months. Fisher is a San Mateo Avenue-based certified public accountant.

Cost of improvements per businessman ranges from under $1,000 to not more than $3,000. "It will take some selling job," admitted Fisher.

Al Race, vice president and manager of Bank of America, and active in the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce, said, "There's an excellent possibility banks will be most receptive to assist (with low-cost loans) where possible."

Race, like many others, says the street can be made more pleasant and appealing with a relatively small amount of money. It is contended there is no need for an expensive mall.

There are less than a dozen empty buildings on San Mateo Avenue, mostly in the 600 block. Two empty buildings were recently filled with new businesses.

One reason San Mateo Avenue is deteriorating is because of lack of improvements by property owners.

The majority of businessmen are tenants not owners, and therefore are wary about spending money to enhance someone else's property.

'Guadalupe Clinic' Plea in D.C.

By Frank LaPierre

The problem of providing better health care for Daly City's poor was brought to the city council Monday.

Councilmen expressed shock when they were informed by Mary's Help Hospital administrators the facilities presently were not meeting the needs of the community's poorer citizens.

Representatives from the hospital, various ethnic and civic groups, and private physicians explained that a growing population of the city was going without adequate medical treatment.

The group, calling itself the Board of Directors of the Guadalupe Clinic, pleaded with the city to give them top priority for use of the John Daly library at the top of Mission Street.

Speakers noted that the location of the building would be ideal for use as a free clinic.

It is expected the library will be moved to 75 Wellington Avenue sometime in 1973.

Rex Chase, administrator of Mary's Help, said the eight-year-old hospital is "illness oriented" and lacks many services, such as dental, ear, nose and throat, psychiatric pre-natal clinics.

The Guadalupe clinic, once established, will attempt to fill this void using volunteer medical help and supplies "scrounged from other hospitals," Chase said.

Councilman Louis J. Papan said he was bewildered by the lack of care for the city's poor and asked Chase for clarification of those health needs not being met by Mary's Help.

Chase explained that the hospital was typical of most others in the state—it handled emergency cases and cared for the sick. It was not prepared to extend full clinical and preventive medicine facilities to the public.

But Papan pressed Chase for an answer on this acknowledged lack of full medical care for the poor and flatly told Chase "you're not coming across to me."

Throughout the meeting the council was told by representatives of both the city's poor and Mary's Help what was needed to provide these health needs. As a "store front" operation to launch the proposed clinic, sponsors intend to set up shop at the Second Baptist Church on Wellington.

Marvin Gardner, of the NAACP, told the council "This (clinic) will be a small step in the right direction."

Gardner outlined a four-point program for the clinic, noting such matters as drug abuse programs, well-baby care, preventive medicine and "some emergency cases" will be undertaken.

The shoestring operation at the Second Baptist Church is only Phase One of three proposed phases, according to Miss Shelley Fernandez, one of the persons who spearheaded the clinic drive by staging several "prayer-ins" at Mary's Help Hospital in recent months.

She, along with scores of supporters, were protesting the limited medical facilities available for treatment of the poor.

Since that time a rapport has been built between the hospital and 23 poverty organizations in Daly City.

Mayor Bernard J. Lycett said he "sympathized with the people" on the matter.

"I've been listening while many of you are talking with your hearts. However, I'm not getting the medical information we need from the doctors," Lycett said.

Dr. Sheldon Gross explained the clinic would be a "screening center" where those requiring further treatment could be sent to hospital for additional treatment.

Such clinics were springing up throughout the country, in areas of population not now getting health service, Gross said.

Ragan Is New Judge

Appointment of San Mateo attorney Gerald Edwin Ragan to the San Mateo County Superior Court was announced Monday by Governor Reagan.

He will succeed Judge Robert F. Kane, who was appointed last month to the District Court of Appeal.

Ragan, whose youthful looks belie his 43 years and his status as a grandfather, lives in Woodside with his wife, Kathleen Ann. They are the parents of Mrs. Kathleen Jeanne Winn, 21, and Christopher Ragan, 18, and one grandchild, Sean.

Ragan's appointment was not unexpected. It was generally known among insiders that he (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Brunan Dies in S.M. Crash

A 30-year-old San Bruno man was fatally injured and two San Francisco men severely injured on Friday in separate single car accidents in San Mateo City.

San Mateo Police reported that Hugh Wade, Jr., of 1830 Monterey, San Bruno, a United Air Lines employee suffered fatal chest injuries when his auto, northbound on El Camino Real near Central Park, veered across three lanes and smashed into a light pole 150 feet south of Mission Road, at 8:50 p.m.

Admitted to Mills Hospital, Wade told police, on regaining consciousness, that he had not been driving and that friends been at a bar on Pacific Boulevard driving him around. He admitted, police said, to have yawned.

Armed Bikejacking

A sunlit Daly City street was the scene of the armed hijacking of a bicycle on Sunday. It was the first reported case of an armed "bikejacking" in the North County city, police said.

Tony Dekelaita, a 12-year-old resident of Southgate Avenue, was riding his 10-speed bicycle near his home about 2 p.m. when the youth stopped him, brandished the gun and rode off on the victim's bicycle.

Police issued a bulletin for a white juvenile, about 16-years-old, blond crew cut hair and blue eyes.

An Attempt to Meet Poor's Needs that rents are too high. Others say this is not so but that business is just not good.

"Landlords try to maintain the same rent as when the building was in good shape," said one. "A lot of people got rich here, and now they don't want to accept less," said another. "Some made their money and moved out. They didn't want to put more money back into the street," said a third.

Absentee landlords, according to most reports, bought the properties in the 1940's. They held on to the property and continue to get good rents.

"The property owner has it made, and doesn't care what happens," said Jerry Chandler, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber, incidentally, is not the chief motivator of this downtown improvement effort. It is more a project of the Downtown Merchants Association.

This group, although having chamber status, says improvement ought to be an effort of all downtown businesses, whether chamber members or not.

According to Chandler, approximately 60 per cent of the businesses on San Mateo Avenue are chamber members. The chamber, however, must represent all businesses within the city, not promoting one business section over another.

Fisher said San Mateo Avenue "went along with the general business slump, and, frankly, is not getting any better." He said the face lifting is the only salvation for the street. "If we don't go along with this plan, the street won't make it," said Fisher.

Draw by shopping centers is only one reason for empty buildings, say the optimistic merchants. They point out that turnover is slight on San Mateo Avenue. Most businesses have been there for many years.

was at or near the top of the governor's appointment list.

The appointee was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for state senator from San Mateo County in the 1970 primary election. The only public office he has held was as a trustee of the Belmont School District from 1966 to 1968.

Ragan was born in Chicago and served in the Navy in World War II, being discharged in 1946. He won a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from Illinois Institute of Technology in 1950 and practiced as an engineer until 1958.

El Camino Stands by Code

the 500 to 600 persons in attendance... with a questionnaire. He asked three questions related to the dress code: Should Camino leave it stand as is, modify it, or scrap it in favor of sole parental discretion?

The response in favor of retaining the "present code" was 95 per cent of those returning their cards, Keropian points out. He says only five per cent wanted to see attire solely a parental decision.

"I believe the school belongs to the parents," Keropian says. "The school has to reflect their desires."

He tells of last week's "pants wear-in" at the campus, in which 50 girls protested the dress code by wearing "illegal" pants.

Keropian says that what he extracted from a rap session was that the students object that he insists on consulting their parents about such things as dress.

He reiterated that he would make no decision without consulting the professional staff or the parents.

Keropian acknowledges he runs a "structured" school, but he says that El Camino has one of the lowest drop-out rates in the country — 1½ per cent in contrast to the state and national 33½ average.

"Although we stress discipline," he says, "I think we're fair in administering it," admitting that "sometimes the kids like to see us loosen up."

There's a smile in Keropian's voice as he throws out, "Our kids have one of the highest records of achievement county-wide."

El Camino has hosted over the past six years seminars for educators from numerous foreign nations, including the Soviet Union, and all of the states.

They come, he says, to view the instructional program and to learn why the drop-out rate is so low.

El Camino has a unique program of science, art, shop and physical education laboratories that are held three times weekly, for two hours' duration each.

"We get more instructional time for the tax dollar," Keropian says, "we gain seven weeks of educational time."

Keropian has said that he wants to maintain a high standard of dress so that, for one thing, the visitors will gain a good first impression.

Some factions in South San Francisco view Keropian's philosophy as representing the worst repressive philosophy of the district, and one school board candidate, Michael Sweetney, indeed has urged an "immediate student referendum to decide whether Keropian should be dismissed."

Others have expected the "lid to blow off" Camino for years. Nonetheless, these same observers are kind in their observations that at El Camino "you can see the difference."

THE
Listening POST by Lyle Arnold & Alex Florea

The bone-conduction instrument was the second type of hearing aid to appear. It is used in cases where the "hammer, anvil and stirrup" (three small bones which transmit sound vibrations from the middle ear to the inner ear) are damaged and cannot be corrected by surgery. Instead of a speaker, this type bypasses the ear and employs an oscillator which transmits sound directly to the auditory nerve by vibrating against the mastoid bone behind the ear.

Today there are two types of bone-conduction aids: the body type, with its small box hidden in the clothing, and the newer optic type with its tiny components completely concealed inside eyeglasses. However, only 5% to 10% of people can hear by this bone-conduction method.

GLAD TO BE HERE — Mark Lawrence talks over the hazards of swift current with his mom at the site of his near-disaster.

Boy Escapes Fast Water

Mark Lawrence is one lucky fisherman.

Sunday morning 11-year-old Mark, son of Brisbane Councilman William Lawrence, was fishing in the Brisbane Lagoon when his line became snagged on a submerged rock.

The boy was trying to free the line when he slipped and fell into the water. Strong currents swept the child into the Guadalupe Tunnel that connects the Bay and lagoon under the Bayshore Freeway.

An expert swimmer, Mark was no match for the swift water.

A former neighbor, Dan Elven, 31, of 545 Alvarado Street, Brisbane, was sitting on the bay side of the tunnel when Mark came rushing past, partially submerged.

Without waiting to take his clothes off, Elven, office manager for the San Francisco-based Sparkie Delivery Service, jumped into the water, grabbed Mark and struggled ashore with the boy.

Mark was not injured in the accident.

And while he did not catch any fish, his parents figure he's a pretty lucky boy. —F.L.P.

Conservationists Prepare War on Rt. 380 Plans

A battle is brewing in San Bruno on whether Route 380 from Interstate 280 through Crestmoor Canyon to Pacifica should be built.

Council members Wednesday heard pleas from Sierra Club members, including high school youths, to rescind an agreement the city made in 1963.

Also represented at the meeting were members of the State Division of Highways, and Pacifica officials.

Many in the audience were prepared for the council members to take specific action.

This was expected because recalled Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith as a last action on the council had asked for an open hearing to discuss the possibility of rescinding the agreement.

However, at the last council meeting the new members agreed to establish the hearing simply as an information meeting. Its purpose was to hear any recent developments, including considering construction of a pedestrian overcrossing in the canyon near schools.

Most pleas fell on deaf ears as far as any discernible future action was concerned. After the meeting Attorney Len Rappa, representing the Committee For Green Foothills, said his group intends to fight the project. He promised announcement of the method within a week. Claire Dedrick, of Menlo Park, conservation chairman of the Peninsula Sierra Club, told the council members the project would make "a devastating slash through the backbone of San Mateo County."

She called it a monument to the auto complex, and said the council was the only group that could halt construction.

"If you think the project has gone too far to stop, you need only look at the Embarcadero Freeway," she said. (San Franciscans stopped that project in mid-construction).

Mrs. Dedrick indicated the project's purpose was simply to solve Pacifica's transportation problems, and open an area for the benefit of land developers. She suggested rapid transit to the airport would be a better alternative.

Pacific's Mayor Nick Gust objected to the suggestion the freeway was being built strictly for the benefit of Pacifica. "It will be used by you people to get over to our beaches," he said.

Councilman George Corey said Long was suggesting inverse condemnation, requiring the city to purchase the property, and the city doesn't have that kind of money.

Long reported that the state now owns the land and if the city said no, and rezoned it, the state would be left holding it. "What would the state do with it?" he asked.

Griffith also addressed the council seat he once occupied. He made reference to a post card poll taken back in 1962 in which the people "overwhelmingly" rejected the freeway proposal.

District Engineer Leo Trombatore said the Department of Highways is compiling a draft of the environmental impact the freeway would have to the area. This draft, which is said will be completed by October, would be circulated to some 60 agencies for their thoughts and recommendations.

"We believe this environmental study will support construction of the freeway," said Trombatore.

Arrest Ends D.C. Chase

A high speed vehicle chase through a Daly City residential area ended with the arrest of Michael Wischer, 17, of 1074 Pensacola Street, Foster City Sunday.

Officers Paul Westlund and Robert Blazer reported they attempted to apprehend Wischer at Callan and Serramonte Boulevards but the youth sped off on his motorcycle.

Following a zig zag chase police were able to apprehend Wischer near the Fairmont Shopping Center in Pacifica, police said.

Postman Saves Life Of Daly City Man

A Daly City letter carrier did the impossible while keeping his appointed rounds recently and Ernesto Abuyen is alive to tell about it today.

Abel Delgado, 35, a strapping 6 foot, 190 pound former U.S. Marine, lifted one end of a Cadillac almost off the ground to free Abuyen pinned beneath.

Abuyen had been working under the heavy car when it slipped off the jack. The vehicle's driveshaft started crushing his head into the concrete floor of the garage.

Throwing his mail pouch aside, Delgado grabbed the rear bumper and gave a heave. The car lifted enough to allow the victim to scramble out from under.

Except for several cuts, bruises and a headache, Abuyen escaped serious injury.

He credited the modest Delgado, father of three small children with "saving my life."

A gunman held up the Vista Grande market at 201 Vista Grande Avenue in Daly City Wednesday.

He was described by the clerk as having long blond hair, blue eyes and red freckles.

Also the gunman, armed with a long-barreled revolver, wore a brown velveteen jacket, boots and a green shirt, police said.

The suspect walked into the store about 10:43 a.m. and fled on foot after grabbing $200 in cash.

Grant Kolnes, son of Millbrae contractor Kaare Kolnes, was taken to Peninsula Hospital with a compound fracture of the left leg.

Police were called to the scene, where El Capitan Drive is being extended a short block through a hillside, to Ahwanee Drive, at 2 p.m.

PG&E lineman Mike Sloan said he had been working on a power pole nearby when he heard a woman screaming, and saw the boy apparently trying to hang on the side of the moving tractor. There was no operator of the tractor present, police reports indicate.

Sloan told police the boy was holding the tractor's handles and levers, and his feet were on the moving tracks.

Gradually, the tracks pulled him backwards, he lost his grip, and was dragged under the moving bulldozer. Witnesses say the tractor passed over the boy's leg.

Police and fire department rescue teams hurried to the scene, and an ambulance called to take the boy to Peninsula Hospital.

Young Kolnes is a student at nearby Millbrae School, and the accident occurred midway between the school and his home.

City officials say the tractor belongs to a construction firm, B&C Contractors, which has been removing soil from the El Capitan roadway for use on another project.

The work being done is not city work, they report.

Ryan Outlines the Top Legislative Priorities

By BOB PETERSON

Outlawing pesticides, help for the battered child and a voucher system for the schools hold top priority spots in this legislative year for Assemblyman Leo Ryan. Ryan (D-27th) held a press conference Monday morning at the Roadway Inn, South San Francisco, to relate the status of these pieces of legislation he has authored.

He also made a few brief remarks concerning Governor Ronald Reagan's veto of Assemblyman Robert Crown's bill banning construction of the southern crossing bridge.

He called it "a woeful misunderstanding" of the desires of the people of the Bay Area. He said the action "ignores reality."

The battered child bill (AB 850) would do three things. It would make a failure to report (by the doctor or other professional person) a misdemeanor. It would set up a county-wide panel, including a probation officer, to analyze the reports of battered children. The child would be taken from the parents and made a ward of the court, and the parents would be required to undergo psychiatric examination.

The third thing the bill would do is require the court to appoint an attorney for the sole purpose of looking after the child's welfare.

"There is surprising opposition from the medical profession because of the misdemeanor penalty," said Ryan. He said there also is some opposition from the county level because of the costs involved.

Present law now states that children having symptoms of the battered child — unexplained injuries, scars etc. — must be reported to county authorities.

Ryan said this reporting is spotty mainly because physicians don't want to go to court.

The voucher bill (AB 150) is a second attempt by Ryan to let the parent and child select the school of their choice. The bill never got out of committee last year. Ryan is more optimistic this year.

Under the system, a voucher in the amount of federal funding of educating the child would be given to the parent, who in turn would send the child to the school of his choice.

"All I'm asking for is the right to try this as an alternative to the present educational structure," said the former educator.

Ryan said he feels the voucher system would create a competitive school system, forcing as good if not better education at "an upper limit on cost."

According to Ryan, it would not be unreasonable to think that independently operated schools would spring up to vie for the voucher money.

"Education itself does not even want to try this," said Ryan. "Yet its (education) base of existence is experiment."

Ryan also spoke briefly of his prison reform bill, to be heard later in May, that will attempt to restructure the adult authority and eliminate indeterminate sentence.

"The single greatest reason for tension and bitterness in the penal system is the indeterminate sentence," said Ryan.

Hearing on S.S.F. Hair Issue Reset in Federal Court

A maneuver to switch a South San Francisco student's challenge of the El Camino High School hair length regulation to another federal judge failed Wednesday and led to a delay in the proceedings.

Daniel Davis, 16, was once sent home for failing to have his hair trimmed to less than collar length. He took it to court, and the preliminary hearing was to have been Wednesday.

to gain the change in jurists on the contention that pending cases were related to his client's challenge.

Judge Peckham disagreed. However, he explained that any decision from the Circuit Court of Appeals before the new Davis hearing might give guidance or be controlling, according to L. M. Summey, an assistant San Mateo County district attorney, who is representing the school district.

The case has been reset for April 16 in Judge Lloyd Burke's court.

The youth's attorney, John Tremblatt of the Youth Law Center of San Francisco, obtained previously from Judge Burke a temporary restraining order that prohibited the school district from taking action against Davis, pending the hearing.

But, Wednesday, the attorney attempted to have the case shifted from Judge Burke to Judge R. F. Peckham, who at one time had ruled against a Santa Clara school district in a similar case.

That decision was appealed and a decision is anticipated soon.

Davis' attorney, whose own hair hides his collar, attempted

Judge Peckham also allowed the temporary restraining order to expire.

Davis' reddish-blond hair is long simply because he likes it that way.

He said Wednesday that he likes the feel of it and it keeps his head warm.

Furthermore, Davis said, his parents do not object to it.

Davis admits his hair is longer than the El Camino code allows, even now. But it had been down to his shoulders. He got it trimmed so that he could return to school.

However, given a chance, the soft-spoken youth said he would let his hair grow longer again.

Davis said his action against the South San Francisco School District was not designed to have the stringent El Camino dress code voided.

Young Adult Coalition Condemns 'Repression'

Repression of teachers and students was rapped by speakers at Saturday's Young Adult Coalition Town Hall at El Camino High School.

Fewer than 70 adults and youth attended the session, which was described as "an experimental attempt to let individuals of all ages and interests begin to determine what their lives can accomplish."

Jim Lynch, the South San Francisco Unified School District's AFT leader, who referred to El Camino High as "the barber college of the west" in reference to a current hair-length squabble, chided District Supt. Paul Nielsen for alleged acts of censorship.

He criticized Nielsen for not allowing teachers to distribute information without prior approval of the superintendent.

"There is repression of teachers," Lynch said. "I know there is repression of students."

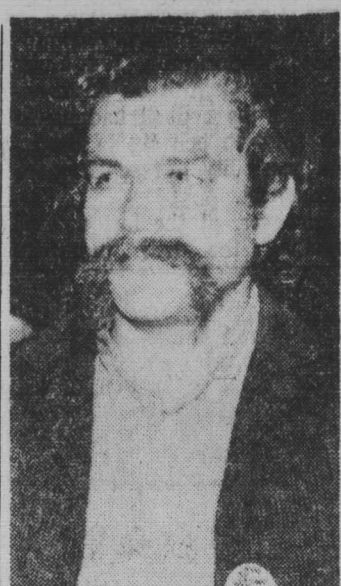

He said the school board does "not act intelligently or progressively."

Peter Reid of the Legal Aid Society, told of "publications on the rights of persons under 21 years old."

He challenged the preparation of "your file in the school," which, he pointed out, could not be seen by the young people themselves, but probably by job recruiters.

Reid also criticized the compulsory education law, which he called a "tremendously coercive thing."

"It just does not set," he said, "when school is not answering the questions of the students."

ROBERT ABLANESE

CLARK NATWICK

He added that students and teachers usually are the most involved in education but "the least consulted."

Referring to last week's federal court hearing involving the South San Francisco School District and student Dan Davis over Davis' long hair, Reid explained that hearing had been reset for April 16.

An earlier speaker had explained that, contrary to some reports, a decision had not been made in the issue.

Reid outlined some of the avenues El Camino girls who staged a Friday pants wear-in might take should they be suspended for their protest of the school's dress code.

About 50 girls wore pants in violation of the El Camino code and refused to go to their first

The Drug Scene

Don't Start Dope Use, Best Advice

By GEORGE GOLDING

THERE ARE several things you can do about drug abuse. One is to not use dangerous or narcotic drugs yourself, unless ordered to do so by your doctor.

Another is to not offer drugs, even diet pills, to your friends.

Last of a Series

Beyond that, hope you can find some real help if you need it.

Most counties don't offer much. San Mateo County has at least a plan for a "five phase" program to battle drug abuse.

Without a director, without any real support excepting from the volunteer citizens' group known as the San Mateo County Drug Abuse Council, the county program hasn't developed as it could have.

To be blunt about it, if you're hooked on heroin, there's little help here.

Members of the Drug Abuse Council are seeking a county-sponsored methadone treatment clinic, where heroin addicts could get a "sustaining" dosage of the artificial narcotic each day and otherwise live like normal people.

Methadone is no cure for the habit, but it is not expensive and allows an addict to be "normal." There is no known cure for heroin addiction, nor any other treatment which promises control of the habit.

The county's "phase five" program, without a coordinator, is more or less of a series of attempts by various people to do something about drugs.

Phase one was a detoxification center at Chope Hospital. It was not very successful and has been scrapped in favor of decentralized drug treatment at other hospitals in the county.

Phase Two is a rehabilitation counseling program. Phase three is a "switchboard" operation where people can call, at any hour for information or guidance. Damien House in San Mateo operates such a switchboard. So does "The Center," in Menlo Park, and the Drug Abuse Council offers as much help as it can.

Phase four is the hoped-for employment of a "drug coordinator" to work with these other groups in getting information to those who need it and want it.

Phase five is to be a series of half-way house operations, drop-in centers where young people can hang out their problems with others and with psychiatrists. Peninsula Hospital's teen-age drug counseling is considered the most effective in San Mateo County, and others are being established or expanded at other hospitals.

The Drug Abuse Council is the oldest activist group operating here. Made up of teachers, doctors, businessmen, policemen, pharmacists, the Council can provide expert technical or medical help, including speakers who know what they are talking about.

"I am personally very depressed over the rise in heroin use," says Shirley Millward, the council's "only paid employee."

"We are now reaping the results of playing around with just any kinds of drugs, a few years ago."

"These kids are so bad, some of them, in such terrible condition. One of them is blind in one eye. If he lives six months, it'll be a miracle."

"Generally, we get parents calling in, with their backs up against the wall. They don't know what to do."

"Mostly, we get what I call the 'baby junkie' cases, ages 16 through 22, just starting on heroin."

"The county figures we have 1,000 addicts in San Mateo County. We figure 4,000."

"The thing that concerns us, all of us, is it's so frightening. In so many of the young people, it's terminal. They just don't realize it, it's slow suicide."

Two Charged as Prostitutes

A sheriff's deputy dressed in a Marine uniform arrested two young women at International Airport Thursday after they reportedly accepted $200 to spend the night with him.

Booked at county jail on charges of conspiracy and soliciting for prostitution were Erica Layne, 23, of 161 Sylvan Street, Daly City, and Carolyn Marie Smith, 28, of San Francisco.

The agent said he was in a coffee shop in the Central Terminal when he was approached by the suspects and propositioned. They said their price was $50 an hour or $200 for the entire night.

2,000 Pills Are Stolen

More than 2,000 pills have been taken from a San Bruno drug store burglarized Wednesday night.

Police said the burglars climbed the roof of Thrifty Drug Store, 300 Pacific Heights Plaza, and removed ventilation equipment. They cut a wire mesh, climbed into the attic, then knocked a hole in the ceiling above where the drugs were located, police said.

THE LARGEST AND FINEST PATIO SELECTION IN THE BAY AREA

Maundy Thursday, Good Friday Rites Slated

A 6 a.m. Easter Sunrise Service will begin a day of festive worship at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church of South San Francisco.

Led by the youth of the congregation in the Youth Room, it will be a contemporary worship service using guitars and folk songs, and will include the Eucharist.

The congregation's Junior League will serve a breakfast of juice, coffee, and rolls to those who attend the early service, following the worship.

Two additional services, using the traditional liturgical setting, will also be offered on Easter Day. The 9 a.m. service will include the Sacrament of Holy Communion, as well as special music. The 10:30 a.m. service will include special music. Nursery services will be available at the 9 and 10:30 services.

A new Easter banner, created and presented to the church by Miss Karen Maleck, will add to the setting for the joyous worship of our risen Lord.

Our Redeemer's is located at El Camino Real and Southwood Drive in South San Francisco.

The Rev. Bill G. Williams is pastor of the congregation.

The church's plans for a Maundy worship service Thursday include the Sacrament of Holy Communion.

Pastor Williams will deliver the sermon on the theme, "The Family Meal."

Visitors are welcome.

Our Redeemer's is sponsoring a Good Friday worship service, from 1 to 2 p.m.

The Rev. Trenton R. Ferro, pastor of First Lutheran Church of South San Francisco, will present the sermon, "Behold, the Lamb." Special music will be provided by the Youth Choir of Our Redeemer's, directed by Mrs. Lorene Harter.

Duplicate Easter Morning Services will be conducted at Westside Baptist Church Sunday at 8:30 a.m. and 10:55 a.m.

Pastor A. David Donnelly will speak on the topic "A Good Question."

Special music will be provided by the adult choir and Per Hillerstrom, soloist. Nursery care for babies and toddlers will be provided at both services.

During the 10:55 a.m. service, a children's church for boys and girls, four through seven years of age will be conducted. A special moment will be presented to all in attendance. Sunday evening, April 11th, 7:00 p.m. Family Fellowship Gospel Hour, a film produced by Campus Crusade For Christ will be shown.

Hillerstrom will lead the congregational singing, and Pastor Donnelly will speak on the topic, "If God Be For Us." Friday at 1 p.m. a Good Friday service will be conducted at the church. Speakers for this service will be Rev. Lee Warford, pastor of Bethel Church of Pacifica and Pastor Donnelly. Special music will be provided by the Ladies Trio from Bethel Church and Alton Swedberg.

"No Greater Love," an Easter Cantata written by John W. Peterson, will be presented by the Temple Choir and Drama Club of Glad Tidings Temple, San Francisco, at Good News Chapel, South San Francisco, at 7:30 p.m. today.

The hour-long program centers around the life of Jesus during Passion Week. The highlight of this colorful feature will be the holy communion service which will take place during the presentation.

The Temple Choir is directed by Jack Palmer, minister of music at Glad Tidings. Accompanists are Miss Trudie Wallmark, organist and Mrs. Carolyn Green, pianist. Dramatization is under the direction of Mrs. Laverne Russell. Special effects are by George Thomas.

The Rev. Donald P. Werts is pastor of Good News Chapel.

Easter Sunday Services at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377-87th Street, will be at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

Two Sunday Schools are to be held, infant care provided, and a Friendly Coffee Time held at 10:30 between services.

The sermon is to be "Risen to Resurrection Life," by the pastor, the Rev. Herbert Tweedie.

Choir Anthems will be "Angels, Roll the Stone Away," "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today, Alleluia," and the Junior Choir singing "Joy Dawns Again on Easter Day." The solo, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," is sung by Kay Mattson.

Tomorrow, 7:30 p.m., Maundy Thursday Communion will be served. The choir will sing "Bread of the World." The solo, "He Was Despised," will be sung by Dorothy Spratt. The communion message will be "The Way of the Cross."

Good Friday noon services will be held at St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate Avenue from 12 to 3 p.m., with local pastors participating.

Worshippers may come for all or part of the service.

The Easter Sunrise Service will be held at 5:30 a.m. on Mt. Davidson in San Francisco.

Congregation B'nai Israel will observe Passover with services prior to the first Seder on Friday, at 6:15 p.m.

Services will also be held on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. and Sunday at 9 a.m.

Yiskor Services will be held on April 17 at 9 a.m. For information regarding Passover services, call the Temple office.

Services will be conducted by Cantor Julius Blackman. Guests are always welcome. B'nai Israel is always welcome.

el, a conservative congregation, is located at 1575 Annie Street in Colma.

Grace Bible Church, a non-denominational, evangelical church, began public services last Sunday at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont Drive, Daly City.

Sunday School, with classes for all ages including adults, meets at 9:45 a.m., morning services begin at 11 a.m. each Sunday.

Grace Bible Church is an outgrowth of Serramonte Community Sunday School, which has been meeting for eight months. The Sunday school has outgrown its present location and the congregation now wants to begin a preaching service.

The church has a women's Bible study on Monday and a men's Bible study on Thursday. Both studies begin at 7:30 p.m., p.m. and are held at 896 King Drive in Daly City.

Two teen-age youth clubs meet on a bi-weekly basis, and children's Bible Clubs are held in various areas.

An entirely different form of worship for Good Friday has been planned by St. Paul's United Methodist Church in South San Francisco.

Believing that the more traditional Good Friday observances are not adequate for Christians at the present point in time, a committee of the church has been restudying with Pastor Robert Clazie, the purpose and nature of worship on this particular day of the Christian calendar.

In describing the thought process that preceded the decision of the Commission on Worship to restructure the service, Clazie said, "For years it has been my feeling that Good Friday services just do not fulfill the requirements for a valid worship experience."

"It is too easy for people to attend such services, feel vaguely guilty about an event that happened two thousand years ago, and then continue to live just as though nothing had happened."

After study of these questions, the Commission agreed the theme for the service should be "What does it mean to me today?", and that a variety of communications media should be employed to encourage the worshiper to rethink what the sacrificial death of Jesus means to him, and to the world of to day.

Both traditional forms of communication — music, Scripture, prayers, etc. — will be used along with other elements that recently have not been thought of as normal parts of a worship service. Art forms, pictures, sculpture, symbols, have all been used by the Church historically to communicate the Gospel message, but in recent years these have often been ignored. But they do communicate, and will be included in the service.

The Seven Last Words of Jesus from the Cross will be illustrated by contemporary photographs, and there will also be periods of silence for personal meditation and prayer. "It is our intent," Mr. Clazie said, "to confront the worshiper with the realities of today, and force him to think about his personal response in the light of God's great acts in history."

Holy Week services at the The United Methodist Church of Daly City will begin today with a film presentation of "The Power of the Resurrection." The film highlights the climax of Christ's ministry. It will be (Please See Page 10, Column 3)

Bike Thefts

A stake-out by San Bruno detectives Wednesday resulted in the arrest of two youths for attempted bicycle thefts.

Police said the arrest of two South San Francisco Parkway Junior High School students may solve the mystery of some 16 ten-speed bicycles stolen recently from the Tanforan Sears Store bicycle rack.

Michele Beyer Is Prospective Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Antonio DiSalvo of San Bruno have announced the engagement of her daughter, Michele Lee Beyer, to Perry Robert Hough. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Hough of San Bruno.

Michele and Perry are graduates of Crestmoor High School who are attending the College of San Mateo. They have reserved the Community Methodist Church in San Bruno for their wedding on August 14.

The bride-to-be is the sister of Tish Beyer and Toni and Rosanna DiSalvo are her half-sister and step-sister respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheets of San Bruno are her grandparents.

The bridegroom-elect is the brother of David, Joyce and Paul Hough. He is a veteran of three years service with the U.S. Army.

Michele has asked Susan Gartner of San Bruno to be her maid of honor and Tish Beyer will share bridesmaid duties with Sue Hough and Joyce Hough. Toni DiSalvo will be the flower girl.

Garden Reception for Newlyweds

The garden of the San Bruno home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moos was the setting for the reception which followed the recent marriage of their daughter, Jacqueline, and Michael Doughty.

The couple, who exchanged vows at St. Roberts Catholic Church, honeymooned in Carmel before establishing a residence in Sunnyvale.

Jackie wore a short A-line gown with a gathered bodice fashioned with a collar neckline. Her short tulle veil was secured by a large bow.

A short A-line pink silk costume with long pleated chiffon sleeves was worn by Jo Ann Deasy, her sister's sole attendant.

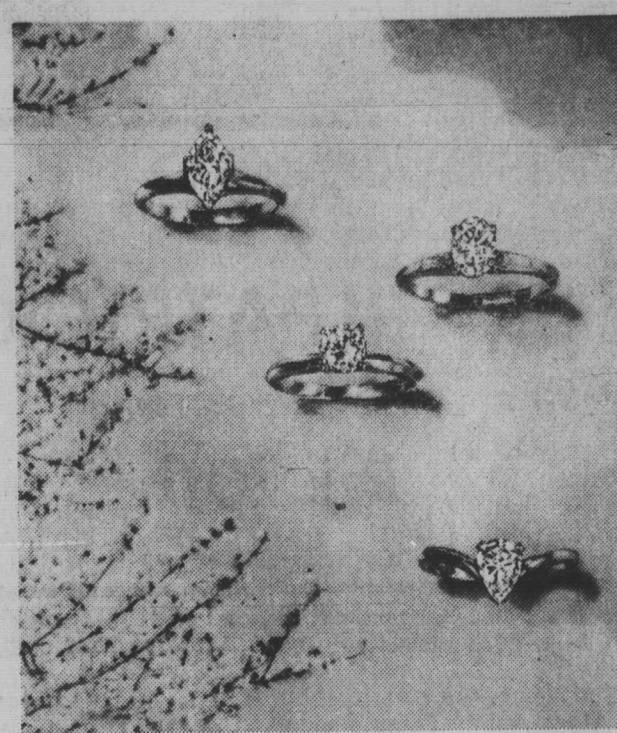

Best man for the son of Mrs. Virginia Doughty of San Jose and Paul Doughty of Dublin was Frank Woods, also of San Jose. Ushers were Rodney Moos, brother of the bride, and Craig Deasy of Burlingame.

Guests at the wedding included Michael's grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Doughty of Port Angeles, Wash., and Jackie's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Abreu of Paradise.

Jackie studied at Capuchino High School and the College of San Mateo.

Club Plans Flea Market

The San Andreas Home-School Club will hold a "flea market" April 24 and 25, from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. in the school's multi-purpose room.

The San Andreas School is located at Hickey Boulevard and Inverness Avenue in the Fairmont area of Pacifica.

The flea market will feature crafts, baked goods, and a super rummage sale.

The San Andreas International Cookbook will be available at the Flea Market.

Proceeds from this event will be used to purchase several much-needed outside benches for the school playground.

Donations of rummage for the sale are being sought. Call Mrs. Pat McVicar for pick-up arrangements.

Degrees Given K-C Members

Six members of Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus, had the Knighthood Degree of the Order conferred upon them at ceremonies recently held at the K of C Hall in San Mateo.

The members who received the degree were George Hartig, Dan Regan, Al Rodriguez, Francisco G. Bautista, Jr., Herosito M. Moreno, and Rodolfo Bernardo.

The conferring-officers were District Deputy John Renn and Past State Deputy John Tiscornia.

D.C. Fun Night

Westlake Community Baptist Church will host a night of fun for Daly City youngsters, six to 14 years, April 9, 7-9:30 p.m.

Walt Disney's film, "Lady of the Light," about a lonely girl who lives on a lighthouse island, will be shown.

There also will be crafts, games and refreshments.

There will be a materials charge of 25 cents.

The church is located at Southgate and Elmwood. It is pastored by the Rev. Al Muro.

Stock Project for Students at Serramonte

The American Business Consumer class at Serramonte High is performing a project concerning stocks. The students in Constant Raboli's class Diane Black, Ben Bonilla, Helen Flegler, John Fraher (the leader of the project), Erwin Fung, Lance Gambol, Pam Hawthorne, Lorna Jackson, Ray Robinson, Martha Rocha and Jean Mendiola, sold 400 shares of stock to the student body at 50 cents each with a maximum of five.

In a few weeks, Serramonte's "decals" will be sold and the money received will be divided among the shareholders.

Students will be getting experience learning about a way corporations get money, selling and obtaining decals, and the issuing of dividends and investments.

This all-encompassing student project should give the students a real insight into the ways of business, an education learning through experience.

ABOUT 40 STUDENTS from the California Scholarship Federation visited San Jose State recently. Students were left on their own to see what a state campus was actually like.

Visits were made to the drama department, music department, science areas, library, book store, dormitories, and cafeteria, as well as areas which meet each student's individual interests.

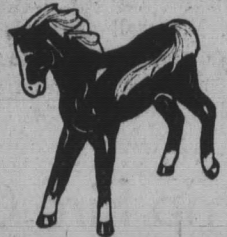

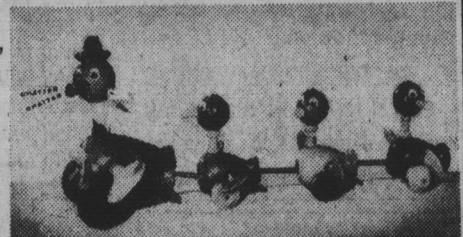

Students were accompanied by Herbert Pierce and Lloyd Silberstein.

Just Imagine What Beautiful Things Will Happen to Your Living Room With These Ethan Allen American Traditional Pieces

Specially reduced from our regular stock . . . in a magnificent choice of decorator fabrics.

Any living room (even one a bit on the humdrum side) will take on fresh importance with this collection of Ethan Allen upholstery. You'll find that each sumptuous piece can make a splendid focal point around which to create an entire decorating scheme. Or — you can coordinate all of them, and WOW . . . what a collection! What styling! What a price . . . and its from the best of the Ethan Allen Collection. Plop down on the Polyfoam cushions. You'll marvel at the deep down comfort. This comfort is the natural product of carefully balanced pitch, tempered steel springs, and generous quantities of Polyfoam and cotton padding lavished over the quality hardwood frames. Examine these masterpieces in detail and you'll discover the kind of master crafted detailing usually found in sofas costing many dollars more. Under the plump seat cushions, where lesser sofas use grade linings, you'll find the seat deck is upholstered in the same fine fabric as the rest of the piece. Outlining the wood trim wings are well placed brass nail heads. Your choice of kick pleats, or boxpleat skirt both completely lined. You may select from an exciting array of colorful prints, handsome textures and plush quilts, all Scotchgarded* to give you years of use. The longest journey begins with a single step, they say. Make your first step toward a more beautiful home than ever with this sale. Resolve now, today, to see it in person here at Westlake Maple Shop. Then just imagine what this collection (and a little flair) can do for your living room.

Russians to the Rescue!

The Russians to the rescue. Italian producer Dino De Laurentiis spent six years preparing research, cast and crew for a $25 million production of 'Waterloo,' and then couldn't find a country to shoot in or enough well trained soldiers to enact the British and French armies.

Tom Carlisle, associate producer who is traveling around the world lecturing and promoting the famous Napoleon campaign, can always turn to teaching history if he needs a job. Besides reading 70 books on the subject, he has been talking nothing else for seven months.

"The film doesn't intend to glamorize war. Sunday, June 18, 1915 was the worst day of slaughter in the 19th century. Fifty-two thousand were killed in less than eight hours. Many historians feel soldiers were killed by their own army in the confusion and smoke."

The European search for 16,000 infantrymen and 3,500 cavalry riders began in Yugoslavia where De Laurentiis was offered 3,000 men for 12 days. By chance, at a private dinner, someone suggested talking to the Russians and they jumped at the chance to participate.

"They invested ten million rubles ($11 million American dollars) plus the Red Army for 58 days. They also built the battlefield on a potato field ten miles from the summer training area of the Red Army. They made the costumes and loaned the cannons. To top it off, we arranged through the director Sergei Bondarchuk (he made the superb 'War and Peace' two part epic) to use the crack Moscow militia and 350 white horses."

The rest of the investment was made by De Laurentiis, Paramount, Columbia and Euro-International for Italy and the North African countries. Tickets cost 90 cents in Russia and with 2,500 color prints playing in 16,800 movie theaters (they are in a theater building boom right now), the government owned film industry can make back its investment in six weeks.

Product is their problem. Last year's Moscow Film Festival entries had nine films on Lenin. They'd never play an 'Easy Rider,' even if it's anti-American. Or any Western life forms with affluent products like cars or luxuries shown.

"Last year they bought the musical 'Oliver' because it deals with child exploitation. The big American films are 'Best Years of Our Lives' and 'Grapes of Wrath.' They are big on history and 'Waterloo' is not controversial. Ray Bradbury is the biggest selling American author. He could buy a lot of fur hats with all the rubles he's stacked up there but he can't get them out."

Napoleon has been the subject of 62 screen treatments, mostly European. The most prominent was 'Desiree' with Marlon Brando, and Herbert Lom in 'War and Peace.'

This version which opened March 31 at the Alexandria features Rod Steiger as the French Emperor and Christopher Plummer as Wellington and Orson Welles as Louis XVII. It deals with the events leading to that fateful battle on rain soaked ground when the superior French army was obliterated by soldiers put into service off ships from the West Indies at Antwerp.

The picture Steiger portrays of the ailing General is based on information from his autopsy and casting of major roles closely followed court paintings, making costumes and facial characteristics as authentic as possible. Richard Burton and Peter O'Toole as Napoleon and Wellington, respectively were originally considered before De Laurentiis began production.

Napoleon, ill and fat at 45 years old, reportedly spent half of the time at Waterloo lying in the back of a cart behind the battle lines. When he died two and a half years later, he was suffering from hemorrhoids, stomach cancer, gonorrhea, bleeding ulcers and high blood pressure. Steiger added glasses to his portrayal when he learned that Napoleon was developing cataracts and wore glasses to read maps.

"Steiger was unknown to the Russian populace where they were shooting near the Hungarian border near Transylvania but Terence Alexander was followed everywhere. He was a 'star' in their eyes because of the popularity of the BBC television series 'The Forsythe Saga' in which he plans Soames Forsythe."

P-TA Awards

Two outstanding members of the community were presented with the Abraham Lincoln P-TA's coveted service awards.

An Honorary Service Award was presented to Mrs. Jack Pereira for her many years of service to the school, especially for coordinating the school library program. The library is open to students every day during the noon period.

Mrs. Beverly Carson, the school secretary, was presented with a Continuing Service Award in appreciation of her service to children and parents of the school.

THE POST'S Family Forum

Tom Powell Spare That Seedling!

As I was waiting for dinner at a friend's house the other day, I noticed his 19-year-old daughter standing in a corner wearing an intensely preoccupied expression.

I walked over to see what was the matter and saw that the object of her concentration was — an avocado seed. She was holding it in much the same way a great Hamlet hold's Yorick's skull.

"What I can't figure out," she said, turning to me, the expert, "is how to make the silly thing GROW. I've tried five times. Maybe I'm not supposed to plant it upside down."

I smiled and walked away, too embarrassed to admit that the avocado seed was a symbol of one of my few failures in life. I've tried to grow them twice as many times as she has.

So I read with interest an unlikely publication I received in the mail yesterday from the California Avocado Advisory Board News (!). I've been filled with new hope.

HOW TO WIN THE WAR WITH AN AVOCADO SEED:

First, eat an avocado. This is the only way I know of to get a seed. In addition to the seed, you need a small jar filled with water at room temperature, and three round sturdy toothpicks.

Wash the seed in tepid water and remove the pulp. Then force three toothpicks in the side of the seed so that it can be suspended in the jar. Place the broad end of the seed down, with the water covering about half an inch of the seed.

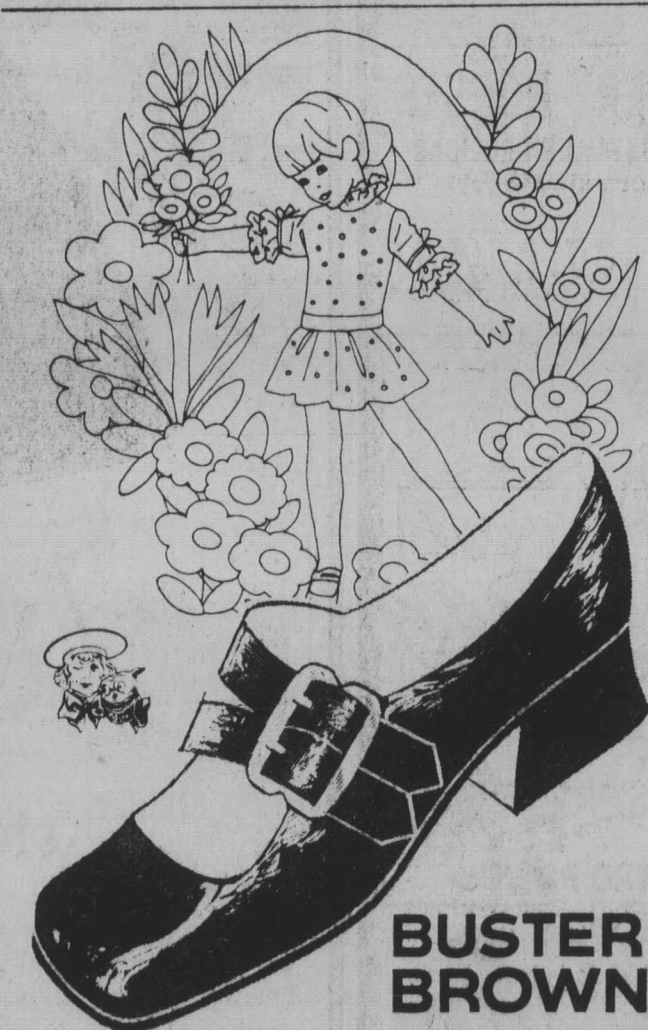

The water jar should be kept in a warm location out of direct sunlight. When the seed starts to crack it is ready to sprout roots. This takes anywhere from two to six weeks.

When the main stem reaches six or seven inches, cut it back midway between the seed and tip. When the roots are thick and the stem has leafed out, transfer the plant to a pot (terra cotta is best) with a top diameter of 10½ inches. Set the pot in a dish and put broken crockery around the drainage hole. Use about four inches of rich, humus-type soil and put it carefully around the roots. Don't tamp the dirt down; gently pour water over the dirt and let the water settle it.

Keep the plant where it will receive several hours of sun per day. Keep it moist with tepid water and feed it with liquid fertilizer about every three months.

Avocados never soften on the tree; they must be cut from the tree and held at room temperature to become ripe for eating.

I'm not doing all this out of petulance, although I'd hate to think an avocado seed could cross me and get away with it. Avocados go well in many dishes and I'd just as soon grow my own as fight my corner grocer for them — especially since the plant itself is so attractive.

Good morning, good cooks.

Marching in the Easter parade will be Sunday's order of the day. Since we homemakers know that the parade will end at the dining room table, we must think about what we will feed the marchers.

At Easter the entree is traditionally ham or lamb, possibly fried chicken.

Once we've selected the entree the rest of the meal fits in. So let's skip to the desert — see what a delight we're dreaming up for Easter!

CHARLOTTE RUSSE

1 pkg. egg custard mix, 4½ oz.
¼ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
3 cups milk
5 tablespoons rum
½ pint whipping cream
8 lady fingers, split

Combine the custard mix, fourth cup sugar and one envelope gelatin in saucepan. Blend in the three cups milk. Cook over high heat until mixture boils, stirring constantly. (Mixture will be thin.) Remove from heat, stir in the five tablespoons rum and chill until mixture thickens.

Whip the half pint cream and reserve some for a garnish. Fold remaining cream into chilled custard mixture. Pour into a 1½-quart mold which has been lined with the 16 lady fingers. (I used a spring mold, which made unmolding a breeze.)

Chill until set, at least 4 hours, or overnight. Unmold on serving dish, garnish with whipped cream and decorate with maraschino cherries. I used both red and green cherries, cut in sections, drained on a paper towel and formed into flowers. Serves 8.

If ham is the choice for dinner, here are two very tasty ways to use up any leftovers.

UPSIDE DOWN HAM LOAF

1 quart ground cooked ham (about 1 pound)
1 very small onion
2 cups herb-seasoned stuffing mix
½ cup hot water
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon ground cloves
4 pineapple slices

Grind the ham and onion. Soak the two cups croutons in the half cup hot water. Add the two eggs and the ham-onion combination to the croutons. Mix well.

Line a 8x5x3-inch loaf pan with foil. Sprinkle the fourth cup brown sugar and half teaspoon cloves on bottom. Arrange four slices pineapple in pan. Press the meat mixture into pan. Bake in 400-degree oven for 1 hour.

Remove from oven, turn out onto serving plate, and pull off foil.

Serves 4 to 6.

HAM CASSEROLE

2 cups diced cooked ham
1 cup chopped onion
¾ cup uncooked rice
1 can tomatoes (28 ounces)
1 green pepper, chopped
1 can pitted ripe olives (9 ounces)
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup salad oil

In large mixing bowl combine the two cups diced ham, 1 cup chopped onion, three-fourths cup uncooked rice, can tomatoes, one chopped green pepper, can pitted ripe olives, one bay leaf, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper and one-half cup oil. Mix well and turn into a greased 2-quart casserole. Cover and bake at 350-degrees for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until rice is tender. Stir twice during cooking time. Serves 6.

Camp Fire Group Shares Ceremonial with Parents

The Ma-Kah-Wees fifth grade Camp Fire group from Lincoln and Edison schools shared a ceremonial with their parents, according to Mrs. Angie Dirks, guardian for the group.

The girls, Lucinda Ballenger, Diane Clarke, Cynthia Dirks, Gina LaStella, Patty Lewis, and Denise Tilley prepared and executed a skit around the seven beads that Camp Fire girls earn. They also displayed their group flag and explained the Indian symbols that make up their flag.

The girls received the honor beads each had earned. They also received a National award, "Keep America Beautiful," for their efforts in keeping their country cleaned up. Three girls who had attended Camp Caniya also received their camp awards and swimming awards.

Time on Your Hands?

Do you have time on your hands these early spring days? If so, and if you enjoy crafts, those types of crafts that are in season around the yuletide when you have no time whatsoever to be arty, consider taking part in the boutique workshops being sponsored by the Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

Mrs. Helen Corbett is in charge of the workshops where all those elegantly posh holiday goodies are concocted for the annual Boutique de Noel and she is working each Thursday morning, with a corps of volunteers, in the hospital solarium to manufacture a vast array of items to be sold at the pre-holiday benefit.

While Mrs. Corbett is seeking helpers in the construction end of the work she is also soliciting ideas! Anyone with suggestions for decorative holiday items suitable for the boutique is asked to call her (at 585-7616).

Guild members are also being asked to volunteer for occasional duty as hostesses for seminars, institutes, etc., which are held at Mary's Help Hospital.

According to Mrs. Mario Mangini, the duties include greeting those attending the meetings with a smile, serving coffee, taking care of registration and giving directions and general information to the guests. To date four members of the guild, Mrs. Ann Armour, Mrs. Barbara Castello, Mrs. Pat Lindsay and Mrs. Beverly Rather have been working as hostesses but more names are needed on the list.

Persons wishing to assist with this work are asked to call the volunteers' office at the hospital and add your name to the roll.

THE SNOWS are melting and the roads over the summit to Reno are open so guess who is on the way to some fun in our sister state! If you guessed the Fifty Plus Club members from Pacifica you were right on the money!

According to Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan the first club bus trip to Reno of the year will be leaving next Wednesday and all those members who wish to get in on the fun mustn't delay a day in making their reservations. Mrs. Elizabeth Funderburg is eagerly waiting for four goers to call and firm up their reservations.

Mrs. Calhan warned that anyone waiting until the next regular club meeting, set for Tuesday at 10 a.m., to sign up will be too late to obtain space on the bus.

It will be a busy week for the club's membership with the trip slated for mid-week and a third session of the singing group on tape for Sunday, April 18.

The chorales will meet at 30 Crestlake Drive in San Francisco prior to 2 p.m. (choralists should plan to actually begin rehearsing at 2 o'clock so arrival time should be considered with that hour in mind), Mrs. Calhan said.

Present plans call for the ladies and gentlemen of the chorus to perform at the Senior Forum on May 15 but if a few additional male voices aren't enlisted and if rehearsals don't go as well as hoped, the debut may be postponed until September 19.

MRS. RUDY ENBERG of South San Francisco, an ardent worker in the Friends Outside program has issued an appeal for a used, but still usable, 9x12 rug, a stove in good condition and men's stockings, jackets and sweaters.

Mrs. Enberg outlined the goals of Friends Outside as an attempt to break the generation to generation inheritance of poverty, apathy, cultural isolation and dependence upon public assistance. Ultimately the Friends Outside hope to provide direct, red tape free material assistance to the families of those people serving jail and prison terms and to released prisoners. Subsequent programs are designed to build a feeling of personal worth in each member of each family caught in the tragedy.

If you have something to donate or are interested in more information Mrs. Enberg may be reached in the Friends Outside office, 554-6833.

THE SECOND in a series of lectures on antiques being sponsored by the St. Francis Wood Women's League will be held on Thursday, April 15, at 1:30 p.m. in the Homestead Savings building, 130 West Portal Avenue in San Francisco.

G. M. Milford-Smith, well known authority on Eighteenth Century English and Continental porcelain, early Wedgwood and English silver, will talk on English Georgian Silver, 1714-1830.

According to Mrs. William G. Quinn, publicity chairman for the benefit, Milford-Smith will display a George II mug, hallmarked London 1745 and made by Ben Cartwright, and a pair of cast George III candlesticks, hallmarked London 1765, and made by Thomas Hannam and John Crouch, items from his personal collection.

Tickets costing $3 each will be sold at the door and the price will be tax deductible since all proceeds will be used to improve the St. Francis Wood Children's playground.

JESUS CHRIST, Superstar will be presented, on recordings, tonight at 8 p.m. in the social hall of Lakeside Presbyterian Church as a part of the Holy Week observance schedule.

Holy week observances will continue tomorrow with Communion and reception of new members during the Maundy Thursday service to be held at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary of the church located at Nineteenth Avenue and Eucalyptus Drive.

A community service of worship will be offered between 12:30 and 2 p.m. on Friday and three services, 8 a.m., 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. will be held on Easter morning. The 8 a.m. service will be "in the round" and will be held in the social hall. The other two services will be conventional worship and will be held in the sanctuary.

Wig Party by YWCA

The North San Mateo County YWCA, in conjunction with Rosalind's Wig Boutique, will present a Wig Party at the War Memorial Building, Room A, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Along with the Wig Party, the "Y" is also offering a wig course at the War Memorial Building, Room A, at 7:30 p.m.

RACE TIME — Parents and Cubs alike got into the excitement of the Daly City Pack 69 Pinewood Derby at the Daniel Webster School. Inset at lower right shows Rick Balen and John Hedalgo intently watching their cars on track. Tommy Bonomi won first place, Mark Zuffo, second, Bobb Zorubin, third. All cars were handcarved by the Cubs and their fathers. (Post photos by Donna Starr)

Open-inner campus has finally been passed at TN as a result of the efforts of OSA. Students are now able to enjoy their lunch and free periods outside in the area around the baseball fields and the surrounding slopes. This new development has arrived just in time for the sunny spring weather.

A TN REPRESENTATIVE from Pacifica's Youth Service Bureau reported plans for the YSB Fair which will be held today and Thursday at Oddstad Park from noon to five. Wednesday's activities will consist of art exhibits and "craft-ins" in which fairgoers may participate in tie dying, pottery, wood sculpture, copper-enamel, jewelry making and candle making. On Thursday there will be music and jam sessions by live bands. Mimes will be wandering around throughout both days.

HOW TO TAKE ADVANTAGE of Cops. A Program for School-Age Mothers, The Perilous Life of a Driver Training Instructor, The Truth About Thornton High School, and A Tribute to Bench Warmers are among the features in the new issue of Tiger Tales, TN's quarterly news magazine, which is coming out the week following Easter vacation.

The Jeff Scene

By SUE McALLISTER

Jim Miller, social studies teacher in the E.S.E.A. program at Jeff, was critically injured in a fall from a boulder. He was on an E.S.E.A. trip to Castle Rock Ranch and, at the time, climbing a rocky hill. Students used a restroom door for a stretcher, and he was rushed to Sequoia Hospital.

JEFF HELD A successful and profitable Spring Festival. The event had heavy attendance, although it was held inside, because of the threat of rain.

Booths consisted of palmistry, change toss, a chance wheel, softball toss, food, a haunted house, make-up artists, belts, Easter eggs, and the only booth held outside, a water balloon toss. Each class or club that participated showed a profit.

TRYOUTS ARE BEING held for the 1971-72 Jefferson High School pep-staff after school on Tuesdays. The girls are trying out for the five pep girl, five varsity cheerleader, four JV cheerleader and five majorette positions as well as the Indian mascot.

'Circus Night' Set by Cubs

Vista Mar's Cub Scout Pack 362 has had a busy and fun year, aside from regular den and pack meetings.

The boys have had outings to the planetarium, Marine World, Shakey's Pizza Parlor; they've gone ice skating and held a car wash, followed by a hamburger feed.

A "Circus" pack meeting will be held on April 22, at Vista Mar's Multi-Use Room at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome.

Conviction in Coast Murder Reversed

The State District Court of Appeal March 30 reversed the murder conviction of a jail escapee convicted of fatally beating and robbing a 92-year-old retired Pacifica sea captain.

The second degree murder conviction of Carlos Lopez in December, 1969, was reversed because of the jury instruction by Superior Judge Allison Rouse.

This was to the effect that the unlawful killing of a human being, "whether intentional, unintentional or accidental" is second degree murder if it comes as a result of a felony inherently dangerous to human life.

Lopez' escape from the San Francisco jail west of San Bruno was considered such a crime, and the jury was so instructed.

Presiding Justice Preston Devins disagreed, in the Appeal Court finding. He said that although Lopez and Clarence Galindo had escaped, that the crime of escape had terminated as soon as they reached a place of temporary safety.

Appeal Justices Winslow Christian and Joseph A. Rattigan concurred in the decision. The opinion was that if escape was considered a felony until recapture, any homicide, even years later, would be "murder."

Lopez, 26, and Galindo, 19, were arrested June 20, three days after the escape, outside the home of Christian and May Pedersen at 165 Winona Avenue, Pacifica.

Police found the elderly couple, badly beaten, inside the house. Pedersen died of his injuries. His wife was hospitalized for a long period.

Lopez contended that he did not want to go into the Pedersen home and that he only entered the house when he heard Mrs. Pedersen scream. He told the jury he pulled Galindo away

Advisors Slated to Aid Mental Health

Further cuts in the state's mental health budget have resulted in the creation of a North County Citizens Advisory group.

The group opposes any additional cutbacks in the mental health program. It has set both short and long term goals in its battle to curb any cuts in the next fiscal year, a spokesman for the organization said.

A spokesman noted that the purpose of the organization includes a role as "advising and assisting the mental health staff in setting program priorities in accordance with the needs of the community."

In the past, similar assistance was available only on an "ad hoc" basis, the spokesman explained.

The group, after expressing a deep concern over past and future cuts in the mental health budget, has asked the San Mateo County Mental Health Advisory Board for full information on the financial situation concerning the budget.

Mrs. Esther Talavera was selected as representative to the County Mental Health Advisory Board. Her appointment is subject to ratification by the county organization.

Members of the group are:

Blake Bauer, Terry Murray, Mrs. Talavera, Mel Tafuya, Bill Finlayson, Dion Dubois, Mrs. Ivy DeWitt and Rudie Tretten. One representative from the North County Mental Health staff will also be on the steering committee.

The next meeting of the advisory committee is scheduled for April 22 starting at 7:30 p.m. at the North County Mental Health Center, Daly City.

Woman Hurt in Accident

A San Francisco woman has been hospitalized at Mary's Help in Daly City after being struck by a passing vehicle in South San Francisco.

Mrs. Rose Andrade, 32, was taken to the hospital at approximately 7:30 p.m. She suffered two fractured legs. Her 14-year-old daughter, also struck by the vehicle, escaped injury.

Police said the woman and her daughter were crossing El Camino Real, south of where Macy's warehouse is located, in an attempt to flag down a bus when struck.

According to the police, the driver, Moises Garcia, 40, of 958 Newman Drive, South San Francisco, could not avoid hitting the pair.

SSF Burglar Takes Silver

A 12-piece setting of sterling silver, valued at $1000 was taken from a South San Francisco residence during a weekend burglary.

George Schilling III told police he returned from a skiing trip to find his home burglarized.

$5,000 Thefts at Skyline

Burglars have taken more than $5,000 in audio visual equipment from Skyline College, police report.

According to the police the burglars entered the administration building by unlatching the doors' locking bars, then breaking a window into the main office.

Runaways, 14 Jailed in D.C.

Two 14-year-old runaways from San Francisco were arrested by Daly City and Broadmoor police on charges of felony hit and run and possession of a stolen car.

They were apprehended hiding in bushes near the Ben Franklin Intermediate School, near White Street, after fleeing the scene of an accident at the Westlake Shopping Center, police said.

Mrs. Sandra Fisher, 23, of 495 South Mayfair, Daly City, suffered cuts and bruises when the youths' car struck the Fisher auto, which was driven by her husband, Thomas, 24.

Girls Nabbed Making Bomb

Three Palo Alto girls who police say are well-known to various intelligence units in the area for their activities, were arrested at lonely Miramonte Point Beach in south Half Moon Bay last Tuesday while making and testing Molotov cocktails.

They were using a hardcover edition of "Anarchist's Cookbook," according to Police Chief Fred Ceranski. The book contained recipes for various exploding devices and had chapters on firearms use and where to place bomb, for most effect, Ceranski said. "It made very interesting reading," he noted.

The girls also had in their possession a list of names, addresses and phone numbers of some well-known revolutionary and college campus radical people, Ceranski said.

The girls were using oil, gasoline and fuses in wine bottles, among other things, Ceranski said.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, will receive sealed bids for the furnishing of all labor, tools, materials, equipment, transportation and services required for the 1971 Alterations and Renovations to Harold D. Chope Community Hospital, 222 West 39th Avenue, San Mateo, California.

2. Each bid shall be in accordance with drawings, specifications, and contract documents prepared therefore now on file with the Purchasing Agent, County of San Mateo, Office Building Annex, Redwood City, California.

3. Drawings, specifications, and contract documents may be examined and copies obtained at the office of the Director of Building Construction and General Services, 500 Hamilton, County Office Building, Redwood City, California, upon deposit of $50.00 for said documents, which deposits will be forfeited if the Contractor fails to return the drawings and specifications in good condition within ten (10) days of the bid opening date.

4. A complete set of drawings, specifications and contract documents may be examined at the Office of the San Mateo County Director of Building Construction, County Government Center, County Office Building, Redwood City, California.

5. Bidders are responsible to see that they obtain a complete set of plans, specifications and contract documents covering the work upon which they submit a bid.

6. Bids shall be submitted upon proposal forms furnished and bound in the specifications and in accordance with regulations, as set forth in the General Conditions, and shall be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check or bid bond for ten per cent (10%) of the bid as noted in said General Conditions.

7. Bids shall be sealed and filed with the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo at the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, California, on or before the 20th day of April, 1971, at 2:00 p.m. and will be opened in public in the Chambers of said Board of Supervisors at or about 2:00 p.m. of that day in said Hall of Justice and Records.

8. The Board of Supervisors of the County of San Mateo, State of California, reserves the right to reject any and all bids, alternate bids, or unit prices and/or waive any irregularities in any bid received.

9. No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of thirty days after the date set for the opening thereof.

10. Bidders are hereby notified that pursuant to the Statutes of the State of California, or local law thereto applicable, the Board of Supervisors has ascertained the general prevailing rate of per diem wages and rates for legal holidays and overtime work in the locality in which this work is being performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to execute this contract which will be awarded the successful bidder.

11. It shall be mandatory upon the contractor, and upon any subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specific rates to all laborers, workmen or mechanics employed by them in the execution of this contract.

12. The prevailing rates so determined are as follows and are based on a 8-hour day, 40-hour week, except as otherwise noted. Existing agreements between the Building Trades and the Construction Industry groups relative to overtime, holidays and other special provisions shall be recognized.

13. WAGE RATES: The Board of Supervisors has determined and has had published the rates of prevailing wages in the County of San Mateo, in which the work is to be performed, for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform the contract. Said prevailing rates are set forth on listing, copies of which are set forth in the specifications for the work, in the offices of the County Clerk, Purchasing Agent and Director of Building Construction. Crafts and rates per hour for each craft or type of workman or mechanic needed to perform this contract are listed under Wage Rates, Instructions to Bidders.

14. A Bond will be required for the faithful performance of the contract in amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the amount of the bid, and a bond will be required to guarantee the payment of wages for services engaged and all bids contracted for materials used in the performance of the contract in an amount of not less than One Hundred Per Cent (100%) of the bid.

The Forgotten Man

While everybody is speculating about the Giants' chances of over-taking Cincinnati this year, or wondering if the Reds will make another runaway of the pennant race, it is very possible that too many experts and-or fans are overlooking a team that has the potential to be the juggernaut of the National League West this season — our enemies the Dodgers.

If the Dodgers have any question marks, they lie—ironically—within the pitching staff. Otherwise, the Dodgers have a depth and versatility reminiscent of the Yankees of the Stengel era... good athletes who can run, play several positions, and more switch-hitters than Casey ever dreamed of. And the best power hitting, potentially, since the Brooklyn days. If some of their pitchers suddenly get lucky, or unusually healthy, or bounces back to previous form, the Dodgers could leave Cincy and the Giants feuding for second place.

If you're not familiar with the current Dodger roster, following is a capsule summation of its worth:

PITCHING: Claude Osteen, Don Sutton and Bill Singer could potentially total 55-60 victories, but there are ifs. Osteen is a genuine tough luck guy. If they judged Cy Young winners on 1-0 losses, Osteen would be the annual winner. He's won 20 only once (1969), once led the league in losses (18 in '68) with an ERA of 3.08. With the extra power the Dodgers have picked up this year, he's the kind of hurler who could even win 25 — but he's also the kind who would still lose 1-0 during a week when the Dodgers were otherwise scoring 10 runs a game. Sutton is one of those guys you could swear has won 20 two or three times, and who seems to have been around long enough for retirement.

But he's only 26 (or will be April 2), and since 1966 has never won more than 17. And the year he did that ('69) he lost 18. As a matter of fact, he has a losing lifetime record (66-73) despite an ERA of around 3.45. But one has to keep thinking that a kid with all of his stuff has to break through one of these years, just has to transcend that bad luck, the occasional sore arm, that one bad pitch in a bad situation he always seems to throw during an otherwise good performance.

Singer is another guy with great talent, but he must bounce back from a disastrous season in which illness and injury limited him to eight wins. In '69 he had a 20-12 record with an ERA of 2.34, which is more indicative of his value.

What the Dodgers will do for their fourth and fifth starters is still a question as this is being written, but they have their usual complement of rookies with sensational minor league records. For instance, Ted Gilje, a 6-6 lefty, just 20, who was 14-3, 2.95 at Bakersfield; Jim Flynn, 22, 19-4, 2-64 with Albuquerque; Doyle Alexander, 20, 9-7, 3.61 at Spokane; Charley Hough 2e, 12dm n 1-95. Spokane; Mike Strahler, 24, 15-5, 2.98 at Spokane and 1-1, 1.42 in 19 innings with the big club last year.

VETERAN CONTENTENDERS for the other starting spots are Sandy Vance, who took Singer's place last year when Bill was knocked out with hepatitis and compiled a 7-7, 3.13 record in 115 innings; Joe Moeller, (Please See Page 20, Columns 6-7-8)

APPOINTMENTS

Congressman Pete McCloskey announced that young men graduating from high school in June, and interested in an appointment to a U.S. service academy should apply now.

Capuchino Netters Frighten Vikings

Mills High School's tennis team lengthened their Mid-Peninsula League win streak on Friday afternoon at Capuchino, edging the Mustangs 4-3.

Cap, with its best squad in some time, put up a struggle, as first singles man Jim Alley downed Mills' Ross Binder 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 and Steve Newberry beat Kurt Frstrup 2-6, 6-4, 11-9. In another good match Mills' Dave Mummah edged Cap's Gordon Van Zuiden 8-6, 4-6, 6-0.

Aragon dumped host Hillsdale 6-1 in another MPL match played yesterday. Aragon's Tim Sutherland blanked Hillsdale's Pat Hanlon 6-0, 6-0 in the first singles match.

San Mateo County

A Natural Setting for Recreation

By VERN KROGH

San Mateo county is blessed with a natural setting, ideal for recreation almost unparalleled in the state.

The Pacific Ocean laps at a half hundred miles of beaches on its west.

Down its spine, hundreds of square miles of redwood forests grow. Creeks meander through the trees.

On the east, a battle to save the natural open areas of the San Francisco Bay is finally being won.

The County Park and Recreation Department has taken full advantage of the county's natural assets.

From Junipero Serra Park west of San Bruno in the north part of the county to Huddart Park in the south regional park facilities are highly utilized by groups such as the Catholic Youth Organization, the Jewish Community Center, Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire girls and other groups directed toward teenagers and younger children.

So unusual is our natural environment, suggestions have been made that undeveloped areas of the county be placed in a Golden Gate National Park. Daly City, for example, built its War Memorial Community Center in 1951. It is now building a second center at Westlake Park at a cost of $400,000 to serve the western part of the city.

South San Francisco only last November realized a dream of 40 years, when a $475,000 swimming pool was completed at the Orange Avenue Memorial Park, providing the only public indoor pool between Nineteenth Avenue in San Francisco and the old Belameda pool in Belmont.

Even Pacifica, hard-pressed because of an inadequate tax base, provides an extensive teenage recreation program largely supported by volunteers.

The geographical location is natural. The facilities are here. But times are changing. Are our facilities being used, and if so, how much?

Rams, S.S.F. Maintain Lead

Westmoor and South San Francisco High Schools continue to lead the rest of the North Peninsula League as baseball conference action drew to a close for the Easter holiday week.

The Warriors had a bye Friday and have a one-game lead with a perfect 4-0 record while Westmoor, now 3-1 after a 6-5 squeaker over Jefferson's Indians on Friday, trails the Warriors by one full game. In the other two league games, Half Moon Bay pounded Terra Nova 6-2, while El Camino got win number one at the expense of Oceana, 5-4.

There were early fireworks in the Westmoor-Jefferson encounter as seven runs crossed the plate in just the first inning. But relief pitcher Brad Casey, a junior righthander, took over the throwing duties with one out in the first and threw a five hitter the rest of the way for the Rams.

The Rams jumped to a quick 3-0 lead in the first when Ted Grey and Dave Riley singled and an infield error loaded the bases. Gary Sioller's fielders choice scored Grey and Riley scores on the front end of a double steal. Brad Kearns, now 8-13 in NPL play, singled in the third run.

Jeff came right back with four runs when John Giannini singled and Smoky Morton, Ken Smith and Dave Mibelli walked. Chinto Fonseca's bloop single followed by a hard liner by Neville Wall made it 4-3, Jeff.

Westmoor scored the winning run in the sixth on a walk to Casey, a sacrifice by Gavin Long, a stolen base and a sacrifice fly by Grey.

Frankie Reyes' clutch pitching and sharp hitting led the Cougars to their second NPL win. Reyes struck out eight in his first complete game after illnesses and arm problems and drove in three of the six HMB runs. Secondbaseman Ed Peley also had three RBIs while Dale Seis had three hits in his first start of the year.

In trouble in the late going, Reyes had to pitch out of bases-loaded jams twice as TN left eight runners stranded.

El Camino got some late inning hitting from the latter part of the lineup and it resulted in a one-run victory over Oceana. With the score tied 4-4 in the sixth, Vacary Bucsit was hit by a pitch, went to second on Bot Garcia's single and scored on Paul Mazzotti's single. Rick Green scattered eight hits for the winners.

Desi Chavez was great in losing a 13-strikeout performance. He walked just two and tripled in one run. Glenn Brede had a solo homer for the losers to lead off a three-run sixth inning. Oceana's defense hurt the Sharks as they committed five errors.

If at first you don't succeed, etc., etc., etc. That could be the byword for the North Peninsula League's leading South San Francisco Warriors as Bob Brian's crew racked up its third conference win without loss to highlight March 30.

The Warriors downed cross-town rival El Camino, 4-1, while Westmoor got back on winning ways with a 7-2 victory over Oceana; Half Moon Bay got its initial win over Serramonte, 3-1, and Jefferson bested Terra Nova in an extra frame, 6-5.

After five innings of action at Orange Park the Camino Cougars actually held a slim 1-0 lead over the Warriors. Time and again SSF had men on base (two were thrown out at the plate in the first two innings) only to have right-hander Tom Horiye bail himself out of trouble with clutch pitching.

But the odds finally caught up with the Colts. Pete Enea doubled in the sixth and with two out the Warriors pushed across four runs. Mike Cholis singled in the tying run and Art Olson's single put runners on first and third. A wild pitch brought in Cholis just before pitcher Marty DeMerritt blasted out a two-run homer over the cones.

DeMerritt struck out nine and walked four in throwing his three-hitter at the Colts. Dave Bias scored the Colts' lone run on an infield error after a walk in the fourth.

Pitcher Frankie Reyes' sixth-inning triple drove in the two tie-breaking runs as HMB walk to Sam Clemens and an error on an attempted sacrifice got runners on second and third for the Cougars setting up Reyes' blast.

Jefferson remained right on SSF's trail with the narrow win over the Tigers. In the eighth inning pitcher Smoky Morton walked and, after two fielders' choice plays, scored on Dave Mibelli's single. Ken Smith's double highlighted an Indian four-run first inning as Jeff tagged junior right-hander John Racanelli for 10 hits in seven innings. Pat Lehr got four hits for the losers.

Early wildness by Oceana's Desi Chavez enabled Westmoor's Rams to build up a quick lead and coast to the seven-hit win. A hit batter, three straight walks and an infield bunt by Brad Kearns gave Westmoor two opening inning runs. Dan Civitznick struck out 10 and walked just three in his seven-hitter.

South San Francisco High School's baseball team, accustomed to ruling the North Peninsula League roost this year, almost got a bad surprise Thursday afternoon at Serramonte.

The Warriors beat the Regents 7-5 to remain unbeaten in NPL play, but the last inning of the game didn't go according to the script.

S.S.F. started right. While hurler Pete Enea was keeping Regent batters busy, the Warriors accumulated seven tallies behind the hitting of Mike Cholis, Mart DeMerritt and Art Olson.

7-9, 3.93 last year after a sensational start and another one of those guys with a lot of talent who always seem ready for a big year; Jerry Stephenson, a one-time Red Sox phenom who hurt his arm but apparently learned how to pitch again at Spokane last year as he hung up an 18-5, 2.82 record in just 182 innings; and Al Downing, the old Yankee and former Athletic, a lefty of great potential at one time who still seems to have something left.

It's in relief where the Dodgers may really be hurting. Nobody new of any real value has turned up in spring training as yet, so the Dodgers will have to hope that Jim Brewer regains his stride (he was 7-6 last year, as he was in '70, but the difference in ERA's was 3.13 as against 2.56) and that Pete Mikkelsen (7-5, 2.78 in '69) can rebound from a bout he had with hepatitis last year.

CATCHING: The Dodgers are so loaded they were able to give away back-up man Jeff Torberg, for whom in '70 they refused several bona fide offers of solid first stringers. Returning is Tom Haller, who had his best year in batting average last season (2.88) and can hit the long ball when it's needed. New is another left-handed power hitter, Duke Sims, coming over from Cleveland. Sims is a capable receiver and yearly finishes among the top half-dozen men in baseball in runs driven in per time at bat. Significantly, Sims is listed on the Dodger roster as an outfielder, which he plays adequately. He also can play first base capably. Perhaps this means that Alston plans to use him on a daily basis, something which Alvin Dark for some reason was always reluctant to do. Then there is Bill Sudakis, the converted third baseman who switch-hits at about a .250 rate and looks like a long ball hitter playing regularly, and who also looks like a re-converted hot sacker again this season. Finally, there is rookie Joe Ferguson, who some scouts have had the temerity to rate with Johnny Bench and Ray Fosse at similar stages of development. The 24 year old righty slugger who was born in San Francisco, hit .308 with 16 homers and 65 RBIs in 109 games with Albuquerque last year, a typical season for him throughout his minor league career. And they say he can catch and throw, too.

INFIELD: At first base take your pick of Wes Parker, who finally seemed to reach maturity last year by hitting .319 with 111 RBIs (not to mention perhaps the best glove in the NL, base-stealing speed, and the ability to play any outfield position very well); Richie Allen, who is listed as an outfielder but has also played on third, and it doesn't matter where he plays as long as he can hit 40 homers and drive in over 100 runs; or Tom Hutton, a left-handed swinging rookie who hit .323 at Spokane last season. Or Sims.

Second base was so deep that the Dodgers were able to trade away Ted Sizemore, who was Rookie of the Year in '69 and hit over .300 in '70. Moved from third base is Billy Grabarkewitz, who fields brilliantly, runs like the wind, and as a rookie last year hit .289, drove in 84 runs, and led the Dodgers in homers with 17, even though he often batted first and second.

His backup man is Jim Lefebvre, a 28 yearold switch hitter who fields adequately, who used to hit .275, 15 homers, 70-75 RBIs when he was playing regularly as a kid, and who could probably play second or third base for a lot of teams, including the Giants.

Shortstop is manned by a little guy named Maury Wills, and if he suddenly gets too old there's another little guy, a rookie named Bobby Valentine, 20, who was only the Coast League MVP last year. Valentine, unfortunately, broke an ankle and is still recovering, but somehow we think that Wills will be able to fill in until the kid is ready.

Sieve Garvey who was in the opening lineup last year but "faded" to a 2.69 and was shipped out for seasoning, is at this moment slated to open once again at third. He's the logical choice, having hit .319 with 15 homers and 87 RBIs at Spokane last year in just 95 games. But there is always Lefebvre, or Allen, or Grabarkewitz, or Wills, if Valentine makes it, or even Bill Russell, a swift, switch-hitting multi-talented 22 year old outfielder whom the Dodgers keep attempting to switch to the infield, and who might be a dark-horse shortstop candidate I fall else fails.

A CLUE TO THE KIND of talent in the Dodger outfield is the hard fact that last week they shipped out Bobby Darwin, who at the time was batting .488 in spring training and whom the sportswriters had already named as the outstanding rookie in Dodger-town. It frightens one to think who the left-overs are.

You know that unless Willie Davis breaks two legs and collapses a lung, he will play. And if Richie Allen doesn't end up at first or third, he will play. And if Allen does play first, Parker will play. Manny Mota seems destined to play somewhere (he can also play the infield, incidentally), sometime, because he hit .306 last year, and like all the Dodgers, including, especially, the executives' secretaries, he can run. But then what will the Dodgers do with Sims? Haller keeps going good behind the plate? Or with Bill Buckner, the 21 year old lefty swinger who was in the opening lineup in '70 and who hits .330-.350 wherever he is sent in the minors.

Or with veteran Willie Crawford, another blazingly fast southpaw swinger. Or another lefty swinger, Von Joshua, who spent most of last season as a pinch-hitter, pinch-runner, defensive replacement, hit .266, fielded well, ran like hell. Or with rookie Tom Paciorek, a 6-4, 215 pounder who hit .326 with 17 homers and 101 RBIs for Spokane last year (Note: As this was being printed Paciorek was being shipped out)? Or with Russell?

Come to think of it, they'll probably try to convert Russell into a pitcher.

Falcons Take Runnerup Spot

Crestmoor High School fell victim to revenge, but still proved its track success this season is no fluke.

The Mid-Peninsula League Falcons finished second Saturday in the Hill Invitational at Pothill Junior College where the Gunn Titans walked off with the team title and 53 points.

Gunn, a team which lost to Crestmoor in a dual meet earlier this season, out-stripped its MPL rival by 13 points in the varsity division but the Falcons took the Frosh-Soph title with 16 points.

Crestmoor's best performances came from sprinter Chuck Bommarito, middle distance runners Gary Hicklin and Mike Paul, and pole vaulter Steve Trueman.

Bommarito won the 100-yard dash in 10.1 over a spongy track and finished second in a 220 that was found to have been measured short by 10 yards.

In the 800, Hicklin ran to a second place and lifetime best mark of 1:58.5 while Paul was fourth in the same race at 2:02.1.

Trueman, who cleared 14 feet last Thursday, improved that height by one-half inch in finishing second in his specialty to Mike Martin of Camden, who vaulted 14-5 1/2, Northern California's best this year.

Brother Acts Spice Dual Drama in MPL

By RON REID

The drama of the Mid Peninsula League track season heads toward a predictable climax this month, thanks to the solid performances of some intriguing brother acts.

Crestmoor High School, currently leading the MPL dual meet standings with a 3-0 record, got the best of the bunch Thursday in a devastating 114-22 conquest of Aragon.

Burlingame stayed on the Falcons' title trail, however, in an 87-45 victory over Mills that was also aided by siblings while San Mateo similarly advanced to its second win without defeat in a 71-61 triumph over Capuchino.

For Crestmoor, the Trueman brothers were the best field act of the afternoon as senior Steve set a Northern California outdoor best of 14 feet in the pole vault. Junior Bill was nearly as effective in the same event, with a 13-6 second place more than a foot over his previous best.

Crestmoor romped to every first place but one against the over-matched Dons, whose lone moment of cheer was provided by John Sheehan's 4:26.1 mile triumph. The Falcons' Chuck Bonmarito, improved for the tactic of a standing start in the 220, clocked 10.0 and 22.4 to win both short races and he also threw the discus 135-10.

The best flat race of the day was the 440, where Crestmoor's Gary Hicklin barely nipped Aragon's Keith Sellers at the wire. Both were timed in 51.2. In the low hurdles, the Falcons' Bart Pierce clocked 23.0 but got the judges' decision for first over team mate Steve Auclair, who posted the same time.

At Burlingame, the talents of Petee and Andy Kolesnikow accounted for 21 points out of the individual events as the unbeaten Panthers picked off a dozen first places.

Pete Kolesnikow won the long jump at 20-9½ and took the high hurdles in 15.2 before running to a second place in the 100. Andy won the low hurdles in 21.0 and finished second in the 440. The Panthers' best performances, however, were a 48-9 shot put triumph by junior Mark Scroggin and Ray Rotolo's 6-0 high jump victory.

San Mateo continued to show strength in the distance races and horizontal jumps as the Bearcats split first places with Capuchino.

Andy Nevitt got the Bearcats rolling with a 2:00.4 victory in the 880. Mark Greenough continued with a 4:37.8 mile triumph and Larry Dieu won the two mile in 10:11.5. Dennis Haysbert led a triple jump sweep for San Mateo with a 40-8½ performance and Pete Bruneau led the same 9-0 assault in the long jump with a 20-8 effort.

Cap's Mike McLeod was a triple winner, taking the high hurdles, 440 and high jump.

Golt, Tennis Classes Set by the YWCA

The North County San Mateo YWCA announced the beginning of classes for the sports minded.

Golf for beginners, with instructor Ted Smith, is open to anyone 13 years and older at Harding Park golf course Saturday mornings. The first sessions will begin immediately, with the second session beginning May 15, for a six-week series. Semi-private lessons and practice sessions are included.

Raemon Sammons will instruct tennis-minded 13-year-olds and older on Saturday mornings at Benjamin Franklin Junior High School tennis courts.

A series of 10 weeks begins immediately and includes the game rules, scoring, fundamentals of forehand, backhand, service and net play. For those who have mastered the basics, a course in advanced tennis is also offered on Saturday mornings at the same place.

Those interested in indoor sports should try the Polynesian dance.

Jerry Matlock will offer a class for beginners Monday evenings, beginning April 12 and Saturday mornings, beginning April 17 at the Daly City War Memorial Building.

For those interested, a hula show, "Echoes From the South Pacific," will be held May 1 at the 620 Sutter Street YWCA at 8 p.m. featuring Jerry Matlock and her hula participants.

Another indoor sport being offered for the first time this spring is the skin and scuba diving course at the 620 Sutter Street pool, beginning April 17. Instructor Shirley Bowersmith, along with Dave Birnbaum, will offer hours of lecture and instruction before the actual water work begins. The course also includes two ocean field trips.

Westmoor an Easy Victor Over T.N. South S.F. Rips Sharks

Westmoor High School took 11 first places en route to an 86-50 victory over Terra Nova Thursday in a North Peninsula League track meet.

The Rams got a double victory from Bob McLennan, who long-jumped 19-7 and triple-jumped 39-4. Terra Nova's Bill Lockhart had the day's best performance, however, in winning the discus at 157-2.

Oceana High School got the quality, but South San Francisco had the quantity Thursday in a North Peninsula League track meet won by the Warriors, 101-35.

Oceana got but two first places during the afternoon, but they came off exceptional performances. The Sharks' Ernie Ribera won the two mile run by more than one full minute in clocking 9:42.3 and his team mate, Larry Kermabon, took the high jump with a 6-2 effort.

For the Warriors, Jim Falkowski set two school records by winning the horizontal jumps with respective marks of 22-5 and 43-7. South S.F. also got a double winner in the suitably named Setoga Setoga, who took the weight events with respective marks of 45-0 and 150-7.

BRIGHT LIGHTS

Special Easter Menus For Holiday Dining

This Easter weekend, countless restaurants, hotels and clubs are going all out to provide their patrons with the very best in food and entertainment — and Bright Lights pages offer a choice selection of the best. Besides being an important religious holiday, let us hope that this Easter season will see peace among brothers and nations. Visit the church of your choice and be grateful of your American heritage. Wishing one and all a Joyous Easter!

FASHIONABLE LUNCHEONS — Guests may view the latest in women's fashions while partaking of exotic drinks and unusual dishes at The Castaway on Coyote Point during luncheon. Attractive models glide through the lounge and dining room from 12:30 p.m. five days a week, Tuesdays through Saturdays. Friday's style show is a big success with local businessmen, as such fashions as Hot Pants and swim suits are usually modeled. Clothes are made available through the Butterfly Boutique, House of Nine, and Fashion Americana.

Day Of Dining Specials

On Easter Sunday, the Benjamin Franklin Hotel will feature a complete day of dining specials with no increase in menu prices. Offering breakfast, lunch and dinner, service will begin at 6 a.m. and continue through 8:45 p.m. Chef Tom Delano will be featuring complete dinners from $2.95; a child's plate will also be available. . . . Pianist Gary Lee has returned to Stickney's Stage Coach Room in San Mateo, and last weekend was like a "class reunion" for he and many of his friends. The "easy listening" entertainer provides Stickney's patrons with the old standards and ballads of yesteryear and contemporary favorites on Fridays and Saturdays from 9 p.m. . . . Joe and Lou Ercoli, co-owners of South City's Leaning Tower, will open their elegant restaurant for Easter Sunday dining. Service will begin at 2 p.m., with a special Easter menu for your holiday feasting. . . . E. W. Engberg, skipper of the charter boat Marion, celebrated his first wedding anniversary with a gala dinner party at Lew Lehr's Steak House in San Francisco's Marina District.

New Luncheon Menu Due

The new dinner menu at the Belmont Prime Rib is a rousing success. Two particular favorites are Filet Mignon and Prime Rib. Executive Chef Dieter Lenz is now working up a new luncheon menu. . . . Taste tip: The Steak and Lobster Combination as served at the charming Red Cottage restaurant in Menlo Park. One of several delightful entrees on the extensive dinner menu, this taste pleaser is a recently introduced house specialty. . . . Siv Aberg, the Swedish beauty who performs the hostessing duties at the Golden Steer, is not only eye appealing but cheerful and congenial. Patrons here can't help but feel welcome. . . . Paul Tsui, chef at the new Pot Sticker, is a restaurant veteran with more than 10 years of prior food experience. Specializing in authentic Mandarin cuisine, this San Mateo restaurant serves both luncheon and dinner. . . . Jeff Santoro, expert plankman at Bertolucci's, has been a Giant fan since he first viewed an opening game in New York back in 1933. Seems he will miss the season opener this year (first time), as he'll be tending to the needs of the expected luncheon crowds here.

Floating Dining Palace

The Showboat, a massive floating restaurant and lounge, is the newest addition to Bright Lights' roster of fine dining establishments. Anchored securely in San Francisco Bay, at 410 Airport Blvd., Burlingame, The Showboat is a floating palace for fine dining. The public has access to the two main decks: the top deck being where luncheon and dinner is served, the bottom deck is a cocktail lounge which runs the entire length of the ship and features live entertainment and dancing. The Showboat, owned and managed by Terry Fogarty, a veteran of the food industry, was a leading attraction in Oakland's Jack London Square for many years. Open daily from 11 a.m. to 2 a.m.; reservations for both luncheons and dinners. . . . Besides the normal restaurant business, Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo does a large amount of outside catering. You name the occasion, the site, the time—they provide the food and the necessary libation. Whether it's a horse show in Woodside or a film company on location in San Francisco they make all the arrangements.

"A Trip To Old Mexico" Visit Papagayo Room

Although Mexico is miles away, it is possible to dine on authentic Mexican food at the Papagayo Room, dramatically placed at the water's edge of Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. You may have the pleasure of a vista view of the Pacific coastline while enjoying subtly spiced Mexican dishes. But if your taste demands more fire, the waitress will convey your request to the chef. Now is the time to take advantage of the "2 for the price of 1" coupon offer appearing in their advertisement. You receive a choice of a Steak Picado or large Combination Plate — the least expensive dinner is FREE. . . . Just upstairs from the Papagayo Room is The Moonraker, which has been an unqualified success since its opening day. The interior design is nautical in theme; the food is prepared in leisurely continental style. Don Kelly entertains at the organ from an elevated position in the bar lounge for all to see and hear. . . . Over 300,000 persons from the Bay Area and Northern California visit the South Tahoe Nugget and Barney's Club in South Lake Tahoe, via Greyhound-sponsored buses and drive-up packages during the year. Making the bus arrangements is Park Avenue Tours, with three Bay Area offices to serve you.

Wilbur 'Stumps' Em' Nightly

The stylish Atherton Key Club is a great place to take your lady for an evening out. Enjoy the musical happenings in the Stein Room with Wilbur Stump at the piano, or a cozy corner for two in either the Black Knight or Gilded Cage Rooms. . . . Lunch tip: The French Dip Sandwich as served at Ansara's in Redwood City. Only $1.65, it is served with a cup of soup and French fries. By the way, this restaurant is so close to Circle Star Theater, it's an absolute natural for dinner and cocktails prior to the shows. . . . Your Bright Lighter finds many snappy dressers among Peninsula restaurant owners, but few can match the dapper image of Vince Licata, owner of Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in San Mateo. With the coming of warm weather, Vince is certain to break-out his summer wardrobe of brightly-colored shirts and jackets, then head for Lake Tahoe for a bit of relaxation. . . . Reggie Dahl, the pantomime star in Finocchio's revue of female impersonators, reminds fans of the famous French pantomimist, Marcel Marceau. His takeoff of a ballerina walking a tightrope is so realistic that ringsiders often are heard to gasp. Dahl is also an expert in the art of striptease, with a good voice and a dazzling wardrobe.

Popscountryjazz To Black Angus

Drummer, pianist, saxophonist, guitarist, showman, songwriter and vocalist Arel Thomas, who recently concluded an engagement at a top San Francisco hotel, opens next Tuesday in the cocktail lounge at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus Steak House in San Mateo. Thomas' guitar style is uniquely his own and has been described as "popscountryjazz." He entertains Tuesdays through Saturdays. Closing Saturday is pianist Johnny Earl. . . . Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City has been endowed with all the social graces of a lovely home. A crackling fire blazes in the fireplace of the main dining room as guests sip pre-dinner cocktails and leisurely enjoy dinner prepared with gourmet appetites in mind. Helen Trainer, the sweet, smiling lady who is seen greeting and chatting with almost everyone who passes through these portals, is the mother of the petite co-owners Mary Lou Francis and Theresa Urban. . . . Many a guest at A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf has remarked that his visit would be worthwhile even if he paid only to sit and gaze out the picture windows that overlook the Wharf action and the hills beyond. Lucien Sabella is accustomed to welcoming patrons from every part of the globe.

Country And Western Music

Live entertainment, featuring the country-western music of The Three Mooseketers, has been added to The Swinging Door, on Twenty-Fifth Avenue. You'll find the band here, in the upstairs loft, on Saturday nights and for the Sunday afternoon jam sessions. There's plenty of liquid refreshments and a spacious dance floor. . . . When it comes to past culinary experience, few can match the background of Wilfried Blarer, chef-owner of The Matterhorn European restaurant. Wilfried trained at several of the most famous European hotels and restaurants, and has even prepared meals for English royalty. . . . Charles Baker, group sales director of the Circle Star Theater, paid a visit to the Villa Chartier during his survey of area banquet facilities. Baker met with Catering director Gwen Penfold, who gave him a "cooks" tour. The Villa Chartier has seven banquet rooms from which to choose for special occasions. . . . Dining at the Ben Jonson in San Francisco's Cannery is particularly pleasant for visitors who are also following the adventures of "The First Churchills." The Albyn's Long Room, which was once part of Albys Hall, Stapleford Abbots, Essex and was designed by famous Inigo Jones in 1609, the period of "The First Churchills."

Special Easter Treat For Royal Coach Patrons

The Royal Coach Motor Hotel is planning something extra special for Easter Sunday which will please the entire family. Edgar Felts, new Food and Beverage Director of the luxurious lodging and dining complex in San Mateo, will feature an Easter Buffet. "Plan to dine at the Royal Coach at a table fit for kings and queens," is the invitation of Felts. This delightful Easter spread (see the selective menu in their advertisement in Bright Lights) also offers something special for children, which includes Easter eggs and an Easter egg drawing. Some of the lucky eggs will contain prizes that will please mom and pop as well. For an Easter that has a modern-day presentation, make reservations now at the Royal Coach Motor Hotel. . . Among the prominent guests attending a dinner meeting in the Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco: Hayward's Mayor Leo Howell and Fire Chief Matthew Jimenez, president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs. . . With the 1971 baseball season soon to start, Don Dianda is readying for many of the players to lunch or dine at Doros. Visiting players as well as the Giants make Doros their favorite eating place.

S.S.F. Wife Is Suicide

The body of a South San Francisco housewife was found hanging from a light fixture in her garage March 30.

Police said the death of Mrs. Josephine D. Simi, 44, of 103 Buxton Avenue was an apparent suicide.

According to police, the woman had reportedly been depressed over marital problems. Police said the husband had spoken with his wife shortly after noon yesterday. When he returned from work at 6 p.m. he found the body, police said.

PORFIRIA FRESQUEZ

Porfiria Fresquez, 73, of 633 Mayfair Avenue, South San Francisco, died March 29 in New Mexico. She was a native of Mexico.

Funeral services were conducted at 8:00 a.m. Friday from the Chapel of Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco, followed by a requiem mass at All Soul's Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Survivors include sons, John and Andronio of South San Francisco and Joseph of New Mexico, daughters Eliose Fries of South San Francisco and Louise Sisneroz of Fremont.

Found Dead

Mrs. Mona Carter, 59, who was found dead in her apartment at 800 Memorial Court, South San Francisco on Sunday, was the apparent victim of an overdose of barbiturates, Coroner Paul B. Jensen reports.

Mrs. Carter was found dead on a couch in the living room by Mario Cechetto, manager of the apartment building.

Jefferson Elementary District

Question: What are the five highest priorities for achieving quality education in your district? Which of them have been implemented?

TOMASELLO — 1. Outstanding teachers in all areas of education. The fact that there are approximately 1000 school districts in the State of California who offer a lower salary should indicate the implementation of the attraction of outstanding young teachers.

2. Efficient administration. The fact that there is one district in the County of San Mateo who spends less on administration than the Jefferson Elementary District should indicate the implementation of this priority. However, I do believe our administration can be made more effective by greater implementation of the next priority.

3. Evaluation. Herein lies the key to quality education. While evaluation is utilized, I believe the educational product must be measured to a greater degree and more often. Parents should continually be informed of the progress of their child. They should not be notified when the problem is already present, but when the first signs appear.

If this is done, they have a chance to take part in the prevention of the problem before it becomes a pattern in the child's life. Evaluation is also a great aid in helping the teacher who is not achieving his goals. This, I do not believe has been implemented to its fullest degree.

4. Teachers' Resources and Materials. A good teacher can teach with a stick in the sand, but teaching aids and various resources make many teachers more effective and broaden the child's scope of knowledge. This has been implemented to the best of the district's ability, and usually beyond that provided in the majority of districts in the state.

5. Backup or Supplementary Services. This area is one for which the Jefferson Elementary School District is noted. Remedial reading, education for the handicapped child, speech teachers, nursing care, consultants and many other services help the teacher toward the goal of quality education. While this priority has been implemented, the financial crises has caused the recommendation of curtailments. Fortunately, our superintendent has been able to keep most of these services to some degree, and should money become available these services could again be expanded.

ARIETA — 1. Top level teachers and administration; 2. A good curriculum that meets the needs of each individual child; 3. Community involvement; 4. Finance; 5. Equipment.

KILPATRICK — Development of curricula based on district philosophy; wise budgeting, with highest priority for areas in which there is direct effect on quality of education; fostering cooperative attitudes among all Question: What are the most serious problems facing your district today? What are your possible solutions?

TOMASELLO — To choose from the multitude of problems facing not only our district but those throughout the nation is a difficult task. The reason this is so difficult is that they all affect children. However, my past experience as a board member has given me the knowledge that the financial problems are the most difficult to solve.

The problem I face at the present moment is an excellent example. With the district facing a $500,000 dollar deficit next year, the teachers have presented initial demands that have been estimated in excess of $4,000,000 dollars. While the unrealistic approach of the teachers is a problem, I am more concerned with the fact that we will have to curtail needed services to children to meet a balanced budget. My experience as a trustee has proven to me that there is no such thing as equal education in the State of California. This fact is proven by the difference in tax rates throughout the State. We in our district are forced to pay more for education than the communities with greater wealth. The tax structure of the State causes this situation.

Therefore, the only answer is tax reform. Were school taxes collected on a statewide basis and redistributed on the basis of average daily attendance, most of our problems in the financial area would end. This would prevent the wealthier districts from competing for the best teachers where they force salary schedules with which we must compete. Salaries would tend to stabilize and good teachers would become available to the poorer districts. Should I be re-elected, I would strive to form a coalition of the districts facing the same problems we do to fight for such a tax reform.

persons involved in school affairs; establishment of effective channels for exchange of information, expression of views and presentation of grievances by parents, teachers, administrators, board members and pupils; institution of standards for reading and mathematics, which will insure that each child being graduated can perform to the best of his ability.

FORRESTER — 1. The safety and welfare of the children. Concern for the child's school environment: buildings, grounds, supervision, and transportation.

2. Excellence in classroom instruction with emphasis on basic skills.

3. Competent business management. Being able to budget within the limitations imposed by anticipated revenues.

4. Continuing evaluation of instructional programs to determine their effectiveness and consistency with goals and objectives.

5. Maintaining the strong support and interest demonstrated by the community for its schools.

Each of these priorities has been implemented to some degree. I will dedicate my efforts toward improving them.

5. What are the most serious problems facing your district today? What are your possible solutions?

SMITH — The five highest priorities for achieving quality education are:

1. A good remedial reading program. This program has been implemented by the District and I feel that they are doing an excellent job in this area.

2. A master plan. This is sorely needed. It must be set up defining immediate, intermediate and long range goals of the District. It should include a comprehensive organization for the achievement of objectives and taking the necessary transition steps. It is highly recommended that this plan be drawn up by the administration, teachers, and parents. All segments of our district must be involved in this plan.

3. Special education. Strong emphasis for the visually handicapped, mentally and educationally handicapped should be continued. The District has implemented this program.

4. More attention should be given to multi-cultural education to meet the needs of the ethnic minorities.

5. Closer and further liaison with our local legislature to inform them of our problems and asking their help in achieving a better system of furnishing the District to support our schools. Currently there is no such thing as equal educational opportunities in this state. This should be rectified as soon as possible.

Question: What, in your opinion, is the role of a trustee? and, what, in your judgment, qualifies you to be a trustee?

TOMASELLO — The trustee is an officer of the State elected to represent the will of the people of his district in the operation of their school district. Qualifications: My experience as a trustee and my decisions during that term: 20 years of work with and for young people and an educational background that qualifies me to understand educational curriculum and problems.

ARIETA — My educational background is in the field of education and recreation. I have held a California Teaching Credential since 1962, teaching in San Francisco and Novato School Districts. I have worked professionally and voluntarily with boys and girls of all ages and adults for over 20 years in Girl Scouting, church work, sororities, and various community activities, and I believe in our youth today. I have the time and the desire to help find ways to accomplish our educational goals to help our students develop physically, mentally, morally and socially and to become useful citizens in our world today.

A trustee's role: To be a representative of the community and to have an unselfish interest in the school, community and in every child; to have time and willingness to keep oneself well-informed of the developments at local, state and national levels.

CARTWRIGHT — A trustee is the guardian of public school funds; entrusted with employing proper administrators. I'm concerned with the manner in which our tax monies are spent and with our children's education. A resident of this district for 18 years, I have been involved with the community and its growth: president, Daly City host, Lions Club; chairman, Thomas Edison school council; financial secretary, Thomas Edison PTA; committee chairman, Cub Scout Pack No. 69; Police Explorer Scouts, JESD Citizens' philosophy committee.

KILPATRICK — To provide for sound management of money and other resources and for Question: Do you favor, in principle, so-called "voucher system" proposals?

TOMASELLO — No. To date the proposals contain two excellent elements. First, they put competition in the educational process, and secondly they provide financial help to private educational institutions.

The first element has been the foundation of the greatest society the world has ever known.

The second element is a necessary one to avoid a catastrophic situation that could occur should private school not be able to survive in these times of financial crises. Should the private schools continue to close

Candidates Night Thursday

Serramonte Center will host a candidates night in cooperation with the North County League of Women Voters at 7 p.m. Thursday.

All North County elementary and high school Board Candidates, in addition to San Mateo Junior College and County Board of Education, are invited.

A total of 43 candidates have been invited and will be arranged around the fountain and down the side malls.

present. It sounds chaotic. Until the "pilot" programs have been evaluated, I am not very optimistic about the proposals. Our public school system has a firm foundation. We need more "faith" in our schools, teachers and children.

CARTWRIGHT — The "voucher system" proposals appear somewhat short sighted in that it would drain already seriously depleted public school funds.

KILPATRICK — It should be given a trial period of regional operation before being adopted generally, and then only if it proves to be decidedly advantageous.

FORRESTER — No, I believe the voucher system would prove to be more costly and that further reduction of state funds would bankrupt many school districts. I also think the voucher system would compound staffing problems and budgets, promote segregation of pupils, create division in the community, and would destroy a system that has shown a large percentage of success.

Question: Do you favor Tenure (as it is known today) for teachers? A modified tenure law? Or no tenure at all? Why?

TOMASELLO — (Doesn't favor present law). For the last four years I have worked under the present tenure laws and have found them to be a great detriment to quality education and a wholesome environment for children.

Parents look to a trustee for the solution to a problem caused by a person who should not be a part of an educational system.

If the trustee agrees with the facts presented to him, he invariably finds the district attorney advising him that he can do nothing about the situation. I believe the people of the district have the right to decide what will be taught to their children and in what manner it will be taught.

I believe, also, that they have the right to expect a standard of conduct and appearance on the part of those who set an example for their children. The law must be modified to allow us to reach the community's educational goals.

ARIETA — I believe the present TENURE protects the district as well as the teachers. It is my understanding that I could be terminated if I did not meet up to professional standards. Maybe we should clarify the terminology used so administrators and teachers would have a better understanding of present TENURE.

CARTWRIGHT — Any law of long-standing requires revision and updating; the tenure law is no exception. Teachers must be protected from political firings, but the community must have a law that can provide for their needs also.

KILPATRICK — (Favors tenure "essentially") . . . To maintain a quality educational system, that system must be protected against the incompetence of teachers and from unprofessional, immoral or unethical conduct. The present laws do this with very few exceptions. They also provide a period of probation for evaluation. The school board should establish adequate standards to cause the screening of sub-standard teachers during this period.

FORRESTER — The present tenure law is too rigid and provides protection only for the teachers. With the surplus of teachers in California and many school districts reducing their Question: What roles, outside the classroom, should teachers have (i.e., curriculum development, policy-making, decision-making involvement, textbook selection)?

TOMASELLO — I strongly believe that any person who has shown responsibility and possesses experience should be consulted in areas of their competency. I just as strongly believe the decision-making must rest upon the person with whom the final responsibility is invested. Any other method does not allow for a logical solution to problems that arise from poor decisions.

ARIETA — The teachers and the administration must work together to provide the needs of each individual child, their ideas and suggestions are helpful in curriculum planning, policy making and other outside classroom activities.

CARTWRIGHT — Teachers should be encouraged to make recommendations to the administration and board of trustees regarding curriculum development policy making and textbook selection.

KILPATRICK — They should have a major role in curriculum development and textbook selection and an advisory role in other matters.

FORRESTER — Curriculum development is the responsibility of all levels of the certificated staff. It is the responsibility of the school board to decide what is to be taught and the responsibility of the professional staff to organize the means by which the program is to be presented.

Teachers should have an opportunity to make recommendations in the formulation of policies. It is the school board, however, which determines and adopts the policies of the school district.

It is very important that textbooks be compatible with the type of training our teachers have received. Classroom teachers have the best opportunity to understand the textbook needs of the children and their assistance in textbook selection is invaluable.

SMITH — Teachers should definitely be involved and constantly consulted in curriculum development and textbook selection, and help the board to arrive at making intelligent policy decisions.

Aluminum Drive Spirit Week Idea

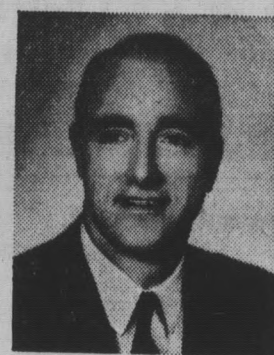

An aluminum can drive, bands, rallies, art shows and other activities have been planned for Spirit Week at South San Francisco High School, April 12-16.

The Sophomore Class held spirit group try-outs on March 10. The cheerleaders will include: Sue Carter, Linda Francis, and Becky Barretti. The pom-pom girls will be: Joanne Goyton, Valerie Paton, Sandy Kleppe, and Karen Dunn; with Theresa Gregory as Mascot.

Working with white, the Senior Class voted "Pirates of the Caribbean" to be their theme. Try-outs were held on March 2. The cheerleaders will include: Robin Athens, Lisa Tait, and Denise Hunter. Chosen as pom-pom girls were: Debbie DiPietro, Kim Moral, Katie Choy, and Cindy Duckett. Leanne Crosarol will act as Mascot.

Nothing Funny

I WISH WE COULD think of something funny to write this week. It seems there isn't a heckuva lot of funny things left to say. Some of the names appearing on our school ballot sample are laughing matters, but not "funny." There just doesn't seem to be much of a choice in a couple of the education races. Like others, all we do is sit back and gripe about this or that. At least we have an excuse. Rules of the company tell us it's a no no to run for public office. It's a good rule. How in the world can a newspaperman who holds an elected office give an impartial account of what's going on in the office he holds? No can do!

A COPY OF AN alleged letter that is being circulated among Jeff El district teachers has found its way to this battered old desk. An organization calling itself PACT (for Political Action Council Teachers) seems to have sent out a five point note dated March 29, 1971 telling they will support Mrs. Beverly Forrester and Thomas Kilpatrick in the upcoming JESD trustee election. (para. No. 1) The letter also instructs that donations are being accepted from teachers for both these candidates, with Ted Smith over at Abe Lincoln School responsible for collecting whatever the contributor decides to contribute.

ONE SOURCE WE have been unable to substantiate said teachers were being tapped for $5 per. If true that could amount to quite a healthy campaign egg — some 450 teachers times $5 equals.

WHILE WE'RE IN THIS political mood it looks like the Daly City council will remain under the same captain for the next year. In April, councils usually play musical chairs for the coming year with both the mayor and vice-mayor rotating the gavel. But for the past five years Bud Lycett has been voted to stay as mayor by fellow councilmen. He will be asked again this year. Added note: veteran councilman Frank Pacelli will stay as vice-mayor. That's how we see it!

SPOTTED THIS on a bumper in Daly City — WATCH D.C. GROW. It was on officer Ken Cole's car. Ken is tying the wedding knot with pretty Kathy Gallagher, secretary in the detective section of the P.D.

WORK HAS RESUMED on that mobile home park near Cypress Hills Golf Course. The project now comes under the direct control of the AMFAC corporation instead of running through empty channels. It first started out with the Hohn & Hutchins company under the watchful eye of Accent Enterprises, which operates under the scrutiny of AMFAC grading and building the park. But the chain of command broke down somewhere and the mother company stepped in. Where Hohn & Hutchins used non-union labor, the AMFAC folks use union workers.

GOT YOUR MESSAGE, Mrs. L. H., and looked right into it. According to the other side of the fence that JUHSD trustee was told to get rid of the third dog.

There indeed IS a law that forbids Daly City residents from having more than two dogs. And you are also correct on the other matter: The Humane Society representative was told by City Attorney Albert Polonsky not to bother the subject "in person" again. It seems that, in the past, such matters were first brought to the attention of the City Attorney. On this occasion the Humane Society rep decided to present his case direct — at night, Polonsky said.

SENATOR ARLEN GREGORIO introduced SB 359 on February 24 dealing with the maintenance of police departments in districts, such as Broadmoor. What the bill does is lift the ceiling on the amount of taxes to be levied. The financially cramped Broadmoor P.D. will have new life breathed into it if the bill passes. We predict it will die in committee. Opposition is already building among local officials (non-Broadmoor types).

HERE WE GO AGAIN — Last month we felt it was time to bring to light another traffic problem, but one Daly City official assured the problem would be alleviated faster than a speeding bullet. The bullet must have stopped somewhere. No action yet. It's the area at the intersection of Southgate and Park Plaza. In a nutshell, what is needed there is a three-way stop. We already realize that one city department head thinks stop signs are for the birds and not for motorists. As a matter of fact this gentleman once said "Nobody stops at stop signs." Maybe not! But at least they slow down.

Cars have been smashed into while parked at the curb, pedestrians have been brushed by motorists, and Yours Truly finds it quite a challenge to cross from Park Plaza from east to west every night.

The Bank-America Scholars

Serramonte, El Camino and Capuchino High School students shared the four top awards in the annual Bank of America Achievement Awards program in San Bruno. The outstanding students are assured of a minimum award of $250, plus an opportunity to vie for $1000. In addition to the first place winners in fine arts, liberal arts, vocational arts and science and mathematics categories, second and third places also were recognized. In photo at right, from Capuchino, San Bruno, are (left to right) Steve Huppert, first place, vocational arts; Rick Weisser, third, science and math; Principal Ernie Hickson; and Ann Tegnell, third, fine arts.

BOB WAGNER (left) of Daly City's Serramonte High School won the Bank of America Achievement Awards Program's first place in the liberal arts division, while George Segall (right) won the top math and science award. Steve Wechler placed third in the vocational arts category, while Shellie Wolf, not pictured, won the liberal arts third place.

MARK CHAMPNEYS of Terra Nova High School in Pacifica placed second in the Bank of America program's science and mathematics category. Principal Thanos Panagoulis appears as pleased as his student.

WESTMOOR HIGH students won two awards, both seconds: Roseanne Real, left, fine arts, and Mary Ann Simmons, vocational arts. They pose with Principal Clay Kollmann.

ROBIN FROSS of South San Francisco's El Camino High School won first place in the liberal arts division. She and Principal Robert Keropian go over program.

Calley Conviction Releases Floodgates

The Calley trial always had political ingredients, but the public dialogue was delayed, strangely suspended pending decision at Fort Benning. The early silence could be attributed to respect for judicial process, but probably mainly resulted from the delay of clever people awaiting the result.

With the announcement of the verdict floodgates of passion and opinion have burst open and Calley has become the central figure in one of history's great political trials. But it is a political trial with a difference. Unlike earlier examples where public passions ran strongly in favor of or against a party or decision, the uprising following this verdict finds widely expressed dissatisfaction with the result, but for different reasons. The similarities between this and, say, the Dreyfus case, can be found in the unreasoning popular reaction as based on preconceived political beliefs and not in the specific issues that unleashed the furies. The Dreyfus case, for example related to whether or not the trials of Dreyfus were fair, and fairness does not seem to be a disputed ingredient of the Calley proceedings.

The best way to sense the difference is to consider the debate as it might have been if Calley had been declared innocent. In this event a direct clash of opinion would have been a certainty. Those who have opposed the Vietnam war would have deplored the result and those who have in one degree or another supported the war would have applauded.

Was Calley a scape goat? A scape goat is commonly defined as "a person or thing bearing the blame for others." Now it may be that others may also bear guilt, but Calley cannot reasonably be likened to the innocent goat sent into the wilderness symbolically bearing the sins of the people. An intelligent jury after a fairly conducted trial found him guilty. He killed. He pulled the trigger. He "wasted" human life.

So the battle lines have been drawn: one group holds that Calley's actions were justified, the other argues that while his actions were not justified they should be excused. Neither seems to care about the jury's verdict: Lt. Calley shot and killed no less than 22 unarmed and unresisting civilians.

Now I am not among those who believe we should precipitously withdraw from Vietnam. I have, in fact, supported the President's plan of disengagement and believe that responsibility and national grace require more than the headlong flight proposed by some. Further, I believe with the President that it is necessary that we fight as we go in order to protect our own departure and the viability of South Vietnamese forces.

But over a year and a half ago in considering the first dark news from My Lai this column asked: "But what of the My Lai charges? By any standard their substance must be condemned. Revulsion is the only possible reaction of a people of good conscience." Later the same column stated: "Communist atrocities are a matter of their national policy. My Lai is a dreadful occurrence that happened in the field and does not represent American policy. The Administration should make this plain by continuing to repudiate senseless killing of non combatants by Americans."

I still believe this deeply. There was something rotten and mean and stinking about My Lai. History could record no greater tragedy than for America, with its heady dreams of justice and incredible potential for good, to dally with excuse or justification.

Word People

Drag out your old family Bible—Write a letter to your great aunt who keeps the family records. You may have an eponym in your line.

If your name is Wistar, Beukel or Watts; Timothy, Mercer or Derrick you need look no further than Nancy Srel's World People.

Casper Wistar was a Philadelphia Quaker who became a professor of chemistry and physiology at the College of Philadelphia in the same year that George Washington became President.

During his lifetime, he wrote the first American textbook on anatomy and was the first person to describe the posterior portion of the ethmoid bone.

But these are not the things that made him famous. On Sunday afternoons he visited with a botanist-turned politician who represented Portugal as ambassador to the United States.

When the ambassador developed a lovely flower he named it after his friend, the professor, hence the climbing "Wistaria."

WILLIAM BEUKEL was a "proper Dutchman" who learned how to preserve fish in a solution of brine and vinegar. His countrymen called the process beukeling and the product a beukel. Corrupted into English, the product became a pickle and the process pickling — all in honor of William Beukel, as true an eponym as ever lived.

An eponym is a person, real or imaginary whose name has become a word; like begonia, chesterfield, diesel and doily. A doily is a small mat made of lace or linen that was named after a linen-drawer who made himself rich selling scraps of cloth and lace to adorn the furniture of the genteel people of Europe.

The beautiful begonia was named for one Michel Begon who was the French Commissioner of Santo Domingo. During his term, he protected the natives of the island from the designs of merchants and provided for them with medical care. In appreciation, they named a flower for him, hence the begonia.

For another reason, Michel Begon is a sort of patron saint to library borrowers. Having amassed a large library, he opened it to the public. When his librarian warned him that he was sure to lose several books, he replied: "I had much rather lose my books, than seem to distrust an honest man."

"Word People" is a book that is fun to read. In it the lives of eighty people whose names have become words are outlined. Among them are Samuel Augustus Maverick, Elias Duncanson, Joseph Ignace Guillotin, Daniel Gabriel Fahrenheit and dowdy old Queen Victoria.

ONE WHOSE NAME will never be forgotten as long as girls wear panty hose was the great nineteenth-century trapeze artist named Jules Leotard. But the garment that bears his name was invented for men.

To man he wrote, "Do you want to be adored by the ladies? ... instead of draping yourself in unflattering clothes, invented by ladies, and which give us the air of ridiculous mannequins, put on a more natural garb, which does not hide your best features."

What else but a leotard? Fortunately, for the good Jules, he died before the eternal women's lib program appropriated his "snuggly fitting, elastic garment."

Word People is wonderfully illustrated by Edward Sorel, husband of the authoress. Both the husband and his wife have found their place in the literature of our day. Their book was inspired by another, the dictionary.

Pad Trackmen Win and Lose

The Serra High School track team split its double dual meet at St. Francis High School on March 30.

The Padres downed Sacred Heart, 77-56, but were upended by host St. Francis, 73-61, in the West Catholic Athletic League meet.

Ram's Tennis Team Triumphs

Westmoor's netters easily got by the Sacred Heart Irish 7-1 on Julius Kahn tennis courts.

The Rams were led by Greg Georgakis who lost his first set 4-6, and then came back to win the next two sets easily 6-0, and 6-1. Dave Nelson and Bob Eise, both, who two straight sets, helped the Ram course 7-1.

SSF Swimmers Rout Indians

Setting two new records along the way, the South San Francisco High School mermen ended their regular season with an 82-11 victory over Jefferson's Indians and now must wait three weeks for the league finals.

The Warriors trail Terra Nova's Tigers in the standings by one full game and must make a strong showing in the North Peninsula League finals on April 23 to take the title. If the freestyle relay team and John Holzwarth perform then as each did Thursday it could get interesting.

Holzwarth set a new school record in the 50-yard freestyle with a 24.9 time. The relay team broke the league record in that event with a 3:44.5, almost sev-

Frosh-Sops Win for WHS

Westmoor's frosh-soph baseball team squeaked by Oceana, 2-0, on a windy Oceana diamond behind the strong arm of Ram pitcher Bob Payne.

Giving up only two hits and two walks while striking out nine Shark batsmen, Payne pitched his best game of the still young season. Oceana pitcher pitcher Tony Diamond gave up only four hits and two walks to a hard-hitting Ram nine, while striking out four in picking up his first loss of the season.

After four innings of nothing but goose eggs on the scoreboard, Westmoor finally broke the string of zeros with two runs in the fifth inning.
